Merger of Town's Two Boards of Health Topic of Meeting Tuesday

Is it time to combine Princeton's two health departments into a single, community-wide health district?

Yes, say both professional health officers, the two Board of Health presidents and -- perhaps -- a majority of members of Borough and Township Boards of Health.

The Borough Board of Health will talk about merging the two health departments when it holds its regular monthly meeting next Tuesday at 8 in Borough Hall. Board members hope the public will come and talk with them about a proposed Princeton Health District Consolidation Plan.

If you're new in town, you may not even know there is a Borough Board of Health and a Township Board of Health as well. You may shrug off the question of merging the two departments as a minor matter.

But words like "merger" and "consolidation" have traditionally been emotional words in this town-of-two-towns, and a merger of the two health departments could have a symbolic, as well as a practical impact. Does it bring Borough-Township consolidation closer?' That will be the big question.

Let's consider the two health departments. If you live in the Township and have a baby in the Princeton Medical Center, its birth is registered in the Borough. If you die in the Medical Center, your death is registered in the Borough, but if your relatives want to bury you in All Saints, for example, they must get a burial permit from the Township.

The Borough's health department gets state aid money -- about $7,000 a year -- but the Township doesn't get a penny. (To qualify for aid, the state says a town must have either 25,000 population, or a full-time, licensed health officers as of 1960. The Township doesn't meet either requirement. The Borough, with less than 25,000 has had licensed officer David Blake.)

A combined health district, Borough-Township, would get about double the $7,000 the Borough alone now receives. And the efficiency and flexibility in personnel would be increased many times over, say the two health officers and the two women who chair the boards of health.

Since February of this year, Mrs. Nelson van den Blink, who heads the Borough Board of Health, and Mrs. Margaret Sprout, her Township counterpart, have been meeting with Mrs. Evelyn Geddes of the Borough Board, Mrs. Barbara Lependorf of the Township Board, and the two health officers, Mr Blake and the Township's part-time officer, Herman Lavan. Originally, they met to try and achieve closer collaboration between the two departments; eventually, they came to believe that a single district was the answer.

"We wouldn't have to take on any new people," Mrs. van den Blink points out. "We'd have a full-time health officer -- that's Mr Blake -- a part-time assistant officer -- that would be Mr. Lavan who is already part-time in the Township; two full-time sanitarians, two full-time

J.B. Smith Changes Vote, School Board Approves Virginia Euell

A school board member who changed his mind brought about a changed school board vote on the Middle School principalship and Virginia Euell was named to that post by a 6-3 vote at a special six-minute-long school board meeting Tuesday night.

Board member J.B. Smith said, after the vote, that he had found the Euell appointment "a very difficult decision. After long and sober reflection, I felt it was best to change my vote and vote for her appointment." He added vehemently, "But I don't want anyone to feel that any racism was involved in the votes of anyone on the board."

The audience of about 50 assembled at Community Park knew that someone on the board had had a change of heart from the 5-4 April 30 vote Miss Euell. As the polling proceded, each of the nine members voted as before. Mr. Smith was the last one polled, and his "yes," changed from the "no" of two weeks ago, brought first a low murmur then standing applause from the audience.

Immediately, board member Judith Getis announced that she wished to change her "no" vote to "yes" to demonstrate board support of Miss Euell and again there was applause. The three "no" votes were cast by board president Winthrop Pike, Philip Cruickshank and Gail Pietrinferno.

After the brief meeting, Miss Euell said she had known the board would re-consider but hadn't known how the vote would go. "I was surprised two weeks ago (when she was voted down) and I kept hoping." She had never received from the board a statement of reasons why the board had rejected her, she said.

"I felt I was doing a reasonably good job as principal," she said, "I had no idea people were aware of what I was trying to do and backing me up. I am impressed and heartened by the support I've had from the school staff and the people in the community. I am very humble."

In its only other action, the board unanimously reappointed Norman Van Arsdalen administrative assistant to the PHS principal.

GREETINGS FROM THE MAYOR: No, that's not the mayor on the right: it's Elric Endersby got up as an Elizabethan Lord Mayor, in honor of Art People Party Day. He's greeting Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley (in a spectacular ceremonial hat) and if you look closely, you can see Township Mayor Jay Bleiman, also in spectacular ceremonial hat. It was quite a Party, quite a Day. Another Art People Party picture is on page 2B, this issue. (Malcolm Ryder Photo)

WATCH THAT SWORD....

Party Pomp. "Hey, careful of your sword..." When's the last time you heard that on Nassau Street?

Saturday, at the Art People Party, if you were watching the parade balloon its way down the middle of the street, the two mayors plaing Pied Pipers all the way to the Party at McCarter.

The night before, at McCarter, Party chairman Anne Reeves and Borough Council member Barbara Sigmund, went backstage to greet Sir Michael Redgrave and members of the Royal Shakespeare Company and present them with a proper scroll, and a personal invitation to come to the Party. Which was, after all, in honor of Shakespeare.

When the Shakespeare poster was unrolled, one actor peered at it and said, "Isn't that the picture that hangs in Westminster Abbey?" "Of course!" grinned Mrs. Sigmund, "where else would Shakespeare find a hoagie?" In the poster picture, Will was holding a hoagie in one hand and a soda in the other.

Three members of the Royal Shakespeare did come on Saturday, and one of them even sang a song.

Elric Endersby, Princeton's young collector of history, greyed his youthful beard for the occasion, dressed himself fit to kill (see photo) and collected the history of previous Art People Parties into Shakespearean—well, prose. He recalled particularly the loud protests from some Princeton shopkeepers last year:

"In some communities, this Party might be only a Winter's Tale or a Midsummer Night's Dream," he intoned, "but not in Princeton. Although there was a Merchant of Princeton who made Much Ado About Nothing, we Tamed the Shrew, and...All's Well That Ends Well!"

secretaries, all of which we now have; a part-time plumbing inspector, which the Township now has and a part-time housing inspector which the Borough now has. It's perfect."

If an emergency health situation should occur, like the discovery of tainted mushroom cans, for example, Mr. Blake says that "with two full-time sanitarians, we could clear the markets' shelves in three hours."

Also, the current staff is skilled in fields that complement one another. Mr. Lavan is an authority on soil tests and septic systems, an expertise vital in the Township; officials now in the Borough are expert in housing inspections.

The internal machinery of both boards and both departments would work more smoothly, and swiftly if there were a single department, according to health officers and board members.

Booth at Fete Planned. "We want to set up a booth at the hospital Fete to offer some free tests," Mrs. Sprout explains. "You remember the Township had a blood-pressure test at last year's Fete. Well, this year, we're going to offer people a simple, prick-the-finger blood test for diabetes.

"At the other end of the tent, the Borough is considering a simple test for hypertension. We have to make all these duplicate cross-calls to Fete people to arrange this. That's a waste of time for them, as well as for us."

Both boards of health contract individually and separately with the Medical Center for its community nursing service. "Now, our contract specifies ... I'm sure yours is similar?" Mrs. van den Blink will say to Mrs. Sprout.

Visiting nurses from the hospital will go into a home where a stroke victim, for example is recovering. They will show the family how to care for the patient, administer medication and so on. Or, they will visit new parents, and show then how to care for the baby.

Borough Births Low. "The Borough only has about 55 births a year, and 75 percent of these parents can afford their own pediatrician," Mr. Blake explains, "so our money goes into adult care -- for the elderly, and so on."

The recent health screening program for senior citizens, held with Medical Center co-operation; the annual rabies clinic for dogs are joint health board operations.

Also, both boards of health contract idividually and separately with the Guidance Center of Mercer County (formerly the Child Guidance Center) for the care of medically indigent children and here again, there is duplication of effort by the agency as well as the health boards.

Borough state-aid money is used in a dental health program for indigent children, and toward the inspection of the Borough's 1,700 rental housing units. The dental program doesn't distinguish between Borough children and their playmates across the street in the Township; all are treated equally under the Borough's program. The schools themselves don't keep the records separate and the Borough simply assumes the whole cost with its state money.

If the two districts should merge, the single district would qualify for state aid, but each component would be considered separately. Borough and Township would each receive one-seventh of the $25,000 alloted to Mercer County (seven municipalities in the county, sharing equally). The Borough and Township would each receive 25 cents per person, exclusive of boarding students, on top of that.

Mrs. Sprout calculates the final total as about double the Borough's $7,000. State-aid money must be used for new programs, by the way; it can't take the place of tax money.

Vote Not Definite. Will the Borough Board of Halth vote "yes" Tuesday? Mrs. van den Blink doesn't know whether the question will even come to a vote. The board has discussed the matter "in bits and pieces," she says, but the full board has not talked it over. The Township's Board of Health doesn't meet until June 6.

Merger would be a lengthy, conservative process. After the two boards vote to recommend, the two governing bodies must pass parallel ordinances within six months. Then a whole calendar year must elapse. So any fully merged department couldn't begin to operate until January 1, 1976 at the earliest.

During that calendar year, the new Board of Health would be appointed (that could be as early as next spring). It would work out the practical problems of transition, and cycle the new department into municipal budgets.

In the past, members of both Borough and Township boards have opposed merger and the move has been particularly opposed in the Borough. In 1970-71, changes in Township board membership drew that body closer to the idea of merger, and in more recent months the same thing has happened in the Borough.

Turner Was Opposed. One of the most articulate opponents of merger has been Orren Jack Turner, who resigned from the Borough board last year.

"I had hoped he would stay with us," Mrs. van den Blink says. "And I've told him I feel this way. I think it's important to hear other viewpoints, and I'm hoping he will attend on Tuesday."

The Borough chairman emphasizes that "we're not backing the town into consolidation by proposing this move. We're thinking solely of the two boards of health. You might say 'the cheese stands alone!'"

Want to Serve?

A vacancy has existed on the Borough Board of Health since the resignation of Orren Jack Turner and anyone who is interested in filling the vacancy is invited to apply.

Terms on the board are three years, and service of course, is voluntary. Those who want to apply should send resumes to Mayor Robert W. Cawley, Borough Hall.

Present board members, besides Nelson van den Blink, are Mrs. James Bess, Dr. Gavin Hildick-Smith, Mrs. Henry E. Bessire, Mrs. Robert L. Geddes, Dr. Dudley F. Hawkes and, as Borough Council representative, Robert S. Powell.

Lombardo Charges Bring Sharp Exchanges at Council Meeting

Sharp words, shot back and forth between Borough Councilman Martin P. Lombardo and a full audience in Borough Hall Tuesday night brought a level of personal exchange rarely heard at a Council meeting.

Mr. Lombardo, presenting a petition of 568 names "respectfully requesting" formation of a non-partisan committee to investigate zoning and planning board decisions of recent years, announced that with the petition he was "resting his case." The Councilman has been on the attack against both boards during the past month. He has been charging them with actions not in the public interest, and with membership weighted on the side of higher-income citizens and people with university affiliations.

Immediately after Mrs. Mary Olivier, 28 Markham Road, presented the petition—which she said later that she had written "with help"—Mrs. Clair McIntosh Miller strode to the dais, handed the mayor a note and curtly told him to remove her name from the petition.

"It was falsely presented," she said, "I am chagrined to be part of this kind of shady politics."

Jan Schneier, 100 Jefferson Road, reminded Mr. Lombardo that she is a key figure in Borough Democratic politics and helped get him elected twice. She is also a member of the library's board of trustees, and told Council she is familiar with the hard work of volunteer boards.

"It disturbs me to have attacks without substantiation," she told Council, "and I'm not convinced a review committee is necessary. If so, isn't Council itself the body to investigate?"

Penick Appointment. In past weeks, Mr. Lombardo has demanded the resignation from the Planning Board of Margen Penick, appointed New Year's Day by Mayor Robert W. Cawley. Someone from a different economic bracket than Mrs. Penick's should take her place, Mr. Lombardo has said. The Penick appointment became a heated subject for exchange and crossfire Tuesday night, Mr. Lombardo repeatedly saying that he never questioned her integrity.

He told of Mayor Cawley's New Year's Day announcement to Council that he would appoint Mrs. Penick even over Council's objections. Mr. Lombardo reminded the mayor of a "promise" to publicize all vacancies on municipal boards so that broader representation could be attained, but said this had been done only "hit or miss." Another Planning Board candidate proposed by Mr. Lombardo "never had a chance," the Councilman charged. Mrs. Penick was a defeated Republican candidate for Council. The mayor is Republican.

"Mrs. Penick's name was known to Council from early November but Mr. Lombardo wasn't present at any of those meetings," stated Council member Barbara Sigmund, "Her appointment is closed, and we shall NOT re-open it. Let us end that discussion PERIOD."

"Mrs. Sigmund neglected to say Mrs. Penick is her close friend," Mr. Lombardo retorted, "I'm tired of seeing only our personal friends chosen to serve."

From the audience, Mrs. Schneier rose again and shouted at Mr. Lombardo, "This is of course a partisan matter, Marty! The mayor has absolutely no power under this form of government; almost the only power he has, is to appoint to the Planning Board. That's the way the system works! If you want to oppose him, do it at the polls. Anything else is a corruption of the democratic system!

Sheehan Suit. Earlier in the evening, Councilman Robert Powell read a detailed statement replying to Mr. Lombardo's published press interviews regarding the suit of Timothy J. Sheehan against Borough officials.

"The public is entitled to a full explanation and understanding of this case," Mr. Powell said, "but inaccurate or misleading public statements do not advance the legal or financial interests of Borough taxpayers."

It doesn't help either, he said, if Council members "who have a sworn duty to protect the interest of all Borough citizens, give aid and comfort to private litigants who seek punitive damages from Princeton taxpayers."

He said the Borough has twice demanded that its insurance company defend the Borough against the Sheehan claim, but the company has refused. The Borough thinks this position isn't legally defensible, and lawyers have drafted a complaint against the company, Mr. Powell revealed. He urged resolution of the Sheehan case "in an orderly fashion, in a court of law, in the absence of misleading or sensational newspaper publicity."

Mr. Lombardo told Council and audience that he knew facts in the Sheehan case which "I don't want to divulge, because they would bring into question actions of Borough officials."

To everyone's considerable surprise, one of the speakers was Mrs. Penick. Without referring to her spotlit position, she spoke of Mr. Lombardo's charges that Borough officials act without consulting residents. The Planning Board, she said, has made no decisions yet on the Central Business District Master Plan, and is actively seeking public comment.

In another matter that took almost as long, Council voted $1,300 to pay Edmund Cook for an appraisal of the old quarry site as the first step toward possible acquisition as a park. Young residents wearing "Save the Quarry" tee-shirts, petitioned by their presence.

Robert McChesney, 158 Spruce, urged Council to explore funds of the Delaware Valley Regional Planning Authority for park land purchase. The Borough hopes for state Green Acres money.

Charles Cornforth, former Borough Councilman, warned the Borough would lose $17,000 a year paying off bond and $37,000 yearly in tax revenues if the quarry were a park instead of the site of 32 homes. Asked if anyone had talked with Charles LaPlaca owner of the land, Mayor Cawley said "no."

ELDERLY COUPLE SAVED

In Early Morning Fire. Quick action by police and firemen last week prevented a possible tragedy as fire and smoke ravished the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry P. Van Dusen, 27 Armour Road.

Mrs. Van Dusen called police at 12:06 Wednesday morning to report that her bed was on fire. Ptl. David Lewis, Ptl. John Holcombe and Sgt. Ralph Procaccino responded and requested a general alarm.

Mr. Van Dusen was rescued through a rear window by the combined efforts of Sgt. Procaccino and volunteer firemen William Karch and William Shields, Jr. He was taken by ambulance to the Princeton Medical Center where he was admitted for treatment of smoke and heat inhalation.

His wife, Elizabeth, was transported in a patrol car to the Medical Center, where she was treated for smoke inhalation and released. Both are elderly, police said.

Later, Ptl. Charles Harris of the police department's arson squad conducted an investigation. Police said that the fire is believed to have originated from an electric blanket. The first floor of the two-story home sustained heavy fire and smoke damage.

FOUR ARE INJURED

In Bayard Lane Crash. Four persons—all of them women—were injured Thursday evening in a crash on Bayard Lane near the intersection of Mountain Avenue. The mishap is still under investigation by Ptl. Anthony Gaylord, who reported that one of the drivers does not speak English.

Three women riding in a small foreign car all received lacerations and bruises, two of them severe lacerations of the forehead. Police identified the driver as Carmen L. Carrasquillo, 29, of Canal Road. Her passengers were Wanda Lizareli Di Carrasquillo and Maria L. Carrasquillo Cotto. Ptl. Gaylord said that the driver aiso appeared to have a broken leg.

The other driver was identified as Wilbur L. Lowe, 51, Route 206, Skillman. Police said his passenger, Catherine A. Lowe, sustained injuries to her right arm and shoulders.

It was raining hard at the time—7:33 p.m.—of the crash and both cars sustained extensive damage when they collided virtually head-on on a curve. Ptl. Gaylord said that it appeared that the Carrasquillo car had attempted to turn down Mountain Avenue when the crash occurred in the Lowe car lane. No charges have been made, pending completion of his investigation.

In an accident a week ago on Mount Lucas Road in which three teenagers were injured, Ptl. Gaylord, who investigated said that the other driver, Lawrence Cruser of Linden Lane, will be charged with failing to keep right.

$1750 RING TAKEN

From Rosedale Road Home. A platinum ring valued at $1750 was reported stolen last week from the second floor of her home by Mrs. Joan E. Koether, 89 Rosedale Road.

Also taken, police said, were an 18K gold women's watch valued at $420, a Pentax camera valued at $365 and a telephoto lens valued at $150. Chief Frederick Porter said that it was not known when the items were taken. Ptl. Mario Musso is investigation.

Lynne Bardee of Washington, D.C., told Township police Saturday that her pocketbook was stolen from a living room table while whe was visiting a friend at 72 Henry Avenue. She lost her driver's license, five credit cards and $40 cash. The theft took place between noon and 6:30 p.m.

A Titusville resident, Donald O'Hara, told police last week that his electronic calculator in a leather case which he valued at $119 was stolen from a desk area in a study room at Princeton Laboratories, Route 206.

In the Borough, Chief Michael Carnevale said police were investigating a rash of petty larcenies ranging from wallets to articles taken from a shopping cart. "It seems that everything that wasn't nailed down was taken," he said.

Hardest hit was David Craft of Hamilton Township. The convertible top of his car was cut while it was parked on Witherspoon Street. He lost a camera, two lenses, a camera bag and two car stereo speakers. His total loss: $400.

Warmth—At Last!

Is your grass
Too long to mow?
Be thankful you aren't
Shoveling snow

After weeks of cool temperatures and excess rainfall, the thermometer finally moved upward this week, producing the kind of warmth that really makes the grass grow from day to day. Of course all that rain had a lot to do with it, too, but the readings in the 70s are distinctly welcome.

Mid-week showers are a possibility, with clearing skies Thursday and Friday also on the forecast. In fact, the weekend weather may be relatively dry, in contrast to the off-again, on-again faucet that kept dousing us all last Sunday.

AGENDA...

For School Board. A light agenda next Tuesday will give the Princeton Regional School Board a breathing spell after the turmoil of recent weeks. The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. in Community Park School.

The board will hear a report on policies for releasing test scores from the state-wide testing done in 1972. The board will vote on a $10,780 bid from International Harvester for replacing a 1967 school bus with a mileage of more than 72,300 and a Turney Motors dump-truck bid for $6,111.

STREAKERS STREAK

But Create Little Stir. Is the impact of streaking on the wane?

Supporting evidence comes from Borough police, who report that four streakers did their thing Friday night at the Playhouse. But was it four?

Police said four males ran down one aisle, across the front and out the other side. Richard Knight, manager of the Playhouse, wasn't present but he reported that he was told only two males were involved. A spectator in the sparse audience was quoted as saying he believed a young girl was one of the streakers.

Chief Michael Carnevale said that the streakers were not really noticed to any degree. He added that considering what is shown on the screen today, he could imagine that streaking wouldn't be too shocking.

The streakers also attempted to enter the Garden Theatre around 10:50 but were foiled, police said, by an alert usher. They also allegedly streaked across the lobby of the Nassau Inn.

THREE ARE FINED

For Careless Driving. Three Princeton area residents were fined Monday by Judge Philip Carchman in Borough Court for careless driving.

Anthony J. Wright, 18, of Cranbury paid $25, and Peter C. Haritos, 38, 7 Greenholm, and Brett A. Orr, 17, 19 Bank Street, each paid $20. Using someone else's license plates without permission cost Kevin E. Farrell, 18, 8 Canoebrook Drive, $25.

Four paid $20 fines for speeding: Kendall P. Price, 19, 38 Magnolia Lane; Sue S. Mould, 31, 19 Montgomery Avenue, Rocky Hill; Gerard Moriarty, 17, 548 Alexander Road; and Caroline Webb, 38, 1 College Road.

Peter C. Dunham, 19, 1 Benford Drive, Princeton Junction, charged with two speeding violations, was fined $15 and $10.

Greenholm Residents Object to CBD Proposals Designating the Area for Multi-Family Houses

"We would really like to act as a loyal opposition," say the nine property-owners of Greenholm in a long letter to the Princeton Regional Planning Board and its CBD proposals, "but...."

Greenholm is the street off Bayard Lane between Avalon and the back of the Palmer House. It contains eight houses and Miss Mason's School. On the CBD plan—as on the 1967 Master Plan for the Borough—it is ticketed "MF" meaning it would be a nice place for multi-family houses.

Property-owners, in a kind of grisly humor, suggest to the CBD committee that Princeton cemetery is a large plot of land, like Greenholm, and is even closer to Palmer Square shops, walkways and proposed fountains. (Greenholm, say its residents, is close only to the proposed loading platform to the the re-located U. Store, and a parking garage.)

The residents ask the CBD committee to find, in the Borough, a plot of land whose development for multi-family housing "would be easier to justify." The group also protests a re-aligned Avalon which, on the map, would slice portions from three Greenholm properties. They prefer a redesigned Avalon-Chambers intersection, done according to the state's TOPICS specifications. They also want the CBD plan to show that any parking garage built on Chambers, be banked and planted with shrubbery "up to more than half its height on the street side."

Turning to the community as a whole, the residents question the phrase "public interest" in the CBD proposals. Does Princeton's black community need more specialty shops the residents ask. Will more jewelry shops, high-priced clothing shops and additional real estate offices indeed "lure more people to Palmer Square," and is it in the "public interest" to lure more people to the Square? An ordinary grocery store with reasonable prices might do so, the residents suggest, "although the plan apparently excludes that possibility with some justification."

"How," the Greenholm letter asks, "will University students be benefitted by a move of their Store far away from its present location which is nearly surrounded by their dormitories?"

Finally, the property-owners wonder how many new shops will really make money, and therefore provide a new tax base or rent base.

"We tend to think that a major motive for confiscating Greenholm for re-development is to increase the profitability of the projected shops," the owners say, adding that in a denser Greenholm, developed with apartments, residents might not have a high enough income to buy in the new shops.

The letter is signed by Dr. Thomas E. Shoemaker, 4 Greenholm; Stanley S. Sieja, 8 Greenholm; John H. Landor, 3 Greenholm; Lynn T. White, 5 Greenholm; Paul M. vanburen, 2 Greenholm; Walter G. Farr Jr., 7 Bayard Lane; Naomi W. Hicklin, 6 Greenholm and Yota Haritos, 7 Greenholm.

$768,000 FOR SEWERS

Federal Money for Studies. A Federal grant amounting to $768,000 has been approved for the Stony Brook Regional Sewerage Authority studies. About half the money—$337,500—will be used for infiltration-inflow analyses of Princeton's sewer lines.

The remainder will pay for two environmental assessments: the one that was turned down by Federal Environmental Protection Agency officials ($111,500) and the revised environmental assessment that will be made as a result of that rejection ($112,500); a cost study ($70,500) and the engineering survey that was done in 1969 ($136,000). The reassessment is expected to take about six months.

The Authority plans to apply for money to build the sewer treatment plant that will have to be built anyway, for both Princetons, West Windsor and possibly South Brunswick as a customer. Such a plant would be funded 90 per cent by the Federal government.

EPA officials in considering treatment plant costs, balance the money spent to rehabilitate collector sewers, with the money it would require to build a plant big enough to handle any excess water. If it's cheaper to build a plant that can handle excess, EPA engineers say, don't spend money to repair leaky collector lines.

TRESPASSERS CAUGHT

On University Campus. Police have charged two trespassers on the university campus last week in separate incidents.

Conway McGowan, 28, Brunswick Pike, was observed in Dodd Hall Saturday night by proctors, who called police. He was transferred to police headquarters where he was charged with trespassing, threatening the life of proctor Kenneth Samuels and Ptl. Kerry Klink, assaulting Ptl. Klink and resisting arrest.

He is presently being held in county jail in lieu of bail—$1,000 on the two threatening charges, $500 for assault and $500 for resisting arrest. He faces a June 5 hearing in Borough Court.

John Petzinger, 22, of Glen Rock, was charged with trespassing after he was detected in a room in the Engineering Quadrangle at 4:12 Thursday morning. A university proctor signed the complaint.

RAILROAD MEETING SET

Tuesday in Lawrence. Area residents and organizations who seek information on the Federal government's plans to restructure the railroad system in New Jersey and the Northeast will have a chance to meet with representatives of the Rail Services Planning Office and the Interstate Commerce Commission Tuesday afternoon in the New Jersey National Guard Armory, Eggerts Crossing Road, Lawrence Township.

The briefing is scheduled to begin at 1:30, with registration at 12:30. The program will conclude with a question and answer period from 4:30 to 5.

State Transportation Commissioner Alan Sagner said the Department "wants to be sure that all citizens are informed on just what the Federal government proposes to do in New Jersey, the potential impact of those proposals and the state's position on them." The meeting will not be a formal public hearing.

It will cover the goals, objectives and time schedules involved in the restructuring program required under the Regional Rail Reorganization Act of 1973. State, county and local officials, rail users, farm, labor and consumer organizations and others affected by the program are invited to attend.

3 TO STUDY ABROAD

Under Dill Fellowships. Two seniors at Princeton Day School and one at Princeton High School have received awards from the Princeton Branch of the English-Speaking Union for study in Britain this fall. The winners of the Sir John Dill Fellowships are Ellen D. Breckenridge, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Bruce Breckenridge of 135 Leabrook Lane; Joan A. Metzger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Metzger of 7 Monroe Court; and James K. Paterson, son of Mrs. Kent Paterson of Ridge Road, Kingston.

Miss Breckenridge, a Princeton High senior, will attend Cheltenham Ladies College for a year before returning to enter Radcliffe in the fall of 1975. Miss Metzger, Princeton Day School, will attend Farrington in Kent this coming year and return to enter Bates College. Mr. Paterson, also from PDS, will attend Malvern College in Worcestershire and enter Colby College the following fall.

One of the Dill Fellowship winners of 1973-'74 was Nina Maruca, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nathony J. Maruca of Province Line Road. She will return in July from Benenden School in Kent.

The English-Speaking Union attempts to foster understanding and respect for common traditions among English-speaking peoples. The Princeton Branch's program includes sponsoring speaking events, one of which will be Friday, May 24. British diplomat and author Lord Trevelyan will address the branch at a membership dinner in Prospect.

ANNUAL MEETING SET

By Community Services Council. The audience will do the talking at the annual meeting of the Princeton Area Council of Community Services to be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday, May 22, in the meeting room of the Princeton Public Library.

Citizens from the 13 municipalities served by the Council and the Princeton Area United Community Fund are urged to participate in the community workshop.

Pinpointing these communities' urgent needs in human services and sighting directions to take in meeting some of these needs are the objectives of the discussions.

Townspeople and Council members will gather in small groups to focus on such issues as: necessary transportation to medical facilities from outlying communities, community health education programs, nutrition and day care programs for the aging, family day care and after-school care for children of working parents, and temporary group homes for youth.

At the brief business meeting preceding the workshop, the annual election of the board of directors and members will be held. Nominations from the floor may be made provided they have been submitted in writing to the board secretary seven days before the meeting. The Council's annual award for outstanding community service will also be presented.

TO OPPOSE WIDER ROAD

Before Township Committee. Opponents of plans to widen The Great Road in the Ridgeview area have petitioned Township Committee to change its plans, citing the rural nature of the area and their fears that a wider road will be a faster road. The petition is expected to come before Committee when it meets next Monday at 8 in Township Hall.

Public hearings on a new Shopping Center bus stop and a resolution amending bikepath specifications are also on the agenda.

Committee expects to complete an agreement with PCH Village, Inc.,—the new name of the middle-income housing project—for tax exemptions and payment in lieu of taxes. Committee will also receive an appraisal of land to be acquired along Stuart Road East as part of the right-of-way for PCH's sewer.

RENT MEETING CHANGED

Next Monday. The Borough's Rent Leveling Board will meet at 8 p.m. next Monday in Borough Hall instead of Monday, May 27, when it would normally be in session. The Memorial Day holiday falls on that day.

Two base-rent cases will be heard before the board. Queries may be directed to the rent office, 921-7551 on Tuesdays and Thursdays between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

5 JUVENILES CHARGED

In Golf Club Entry. Five Borough and Township juveniles, ranging in age from 14 to 16, have been charged with breaking and entering, larceny and malicious mischief, following a break-in at Springdale Golf Club last week.

Chief Frederick Porter said that the youths allegedly broke windows and removed an 8x8 foot sliding door from its hinges to enter the groundskeeper's shed. They took three golf carts, valued at $2100, and later abandoned all three short distances away. All sustained minor damage, police said.

The youths were observed by a resident of nearby Lawrence Court Apartments, who called police. Sgt. Jack Petrone, Ptl. Robert Nielsen and Ptl. Anthony Gaylord responded and made the arrests. The youths were then turned over to Township Juvenile Officer Anthony Pinelli for processing.

REALTH PROGRAM SET

For Senior Citizens. The Princeton Chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons will present a film entitled "Better Odds for a Longer Life" next Tuesday at 10 in the Princeton YMCA. Produced by the American Heart Association, the film covers diet, exercise, high blood pressure, cholesterol and other subjects related to heart disease. Following will be a discussion led by Dr. Louis Hitzrot.

At 11 that same morning, the regular exercise program of senior citizens, which has been meeting Tuesdays and Thursdays for the past year, will follow its program in the gymnasium. Retired persons are encouraged to participate in the program, which is free of charge.

Bus Riders Ask Extended Hours

It still isn't exactly standing-room-only on Princeton's two-week-old Loop Bus system; in fact, the driver has the place all to himself a distressing amount of the time.

But people seem to be responding to the suggestion that they make suggestions, and the most frequent suggestion is—extend those 9-4 hours. "Working people are your best customers," wrote one rider, "but we can't use the bus if it doesn't start until 9."

Another respondent asked rush-hour service between 4-6 p.m. And many people have pointedly pointed out that the buses don't run on time.

Shuttle service from Jadwin parking lot will begin Tuesday, May 28, according to John Huntoon of the Joint Transportation Committee. And a schedule will be available shortly giving shuttle and bus times.

Suggestion-box posters are at Town Topics and Princeton Bank and Trust, but riders are also invited to write Borough or Township Hall with ideas and opinions.

REACHING OUT FOR JUNE 1: Helping with preparations for the Lane of Shops attraction at the June 1 Hospital Fete are co-chairmen Mrs. William Pearce (left) and Mrs. Edwin D. Shaw. Booths will sell everything from aprons to art, fabrics to second-hand fashions. These whimsically decorated purses are the work of Mrs. Miriam Houghton and will be featured at the Beehive Treasure booth.

OPENING THE LANE

For Hospital Fete. Craftsmen, artists, bakers and seamstresses from throughout the area served by the Princeton Medical Center are busily preparing to sell their wares in the Lane of Shops at the Hospital Fete June 1. The Lane of Shops, being organized by co-chairmen Mrs. William Pearce and Mrs. Edwin D. Shaw, will be located in the northeast corner of the Fete grounds on Washington Road.

For the 21st year the Apron Bar at the Lane will be stocked with the handiwork of the Friendship Club of Princeton. The Art Gallery returns this year, as does the Fabrics Booth, Teen Tent and Second Time Around, a fashion boutique for men, women and children.

Bargains are expected to fill the Flea Market. Wicker baskets are going to be the mainstay item on stock in the Busy Bee Kitchen, as that booth aims this year to meet the needs of the outdoor hostess.

Fitting for a fund-raising activity entitled, "A Honey of a Fete," the Lane will also feature the new Beehive Treasures, with a collection of needlepoint, knits, decoupage and hand-sewn items, as well as A Honey of a Surprise, a hive of brightly wrapped adult and children's gifts.

A more detailed guide to what's where and when at the Fete will be available within the week. The Honey of a Fete official guidebook, with maps and graphic description, should be out then, according to its creator, Mrs. Fritz Landmann.

1974 GOAL REACHED

For PHS Scholarship Foundation. With its goal for financial assistance to the Princeton High School Class of '74 within reach, the Princeton Regional Scholarship Foundation announced this week the conclusion of the most successful fund raising year since the Foundation was organized in 1970 by the Princeton High School PTO.

According to Mrs. Henry H. Freedman, Foundation President, approximately $9,000 will be available for educational grants to PHS seniors and graduating juniors. This sum exceeds past totals by more than $2,000, at a time when soaring tuition costs have brought a record number of applicants to the Foundation for assistance. Mrs. Freedman attributes the favorable response to this year's appeal to increased awareness of the Foundation by the community as a whole and especially by Princeton businesses because of the support and publicity provided by the press.

The Scholarship Awards Committee, co-chaired by Mrs. William F. Besser and Mrs. W. Brinton Whitall and including Mrs. Kenneth G. Negus, Mrs. James E. Ward, and Guidance Department representative, Mrs. Lewis V. Thomas, is currently interviewing candidates. Grant recipients will be announced in June. An effort will be made to assist all applicants who require financial assistance to continue their education or training and whose total need is not met by any other source.

At the Foundation's annual public meeting, Tuesday, June 4, at 10 a.m. in the PHS main office conference room, the Nominating Committee, Mrs. Richard A. Katen (Chairman), Mrs. Charles C. Adams, and Mrs. James E. Ward, will present the following slate of candidates for Trustees for 1974-7: Mrs. R. M. Allaire, Jr., Mrs. Lee C. Cleveland, Mrs. Richard H. Cobb, Mrs. R. Davison, Mrs. A. D. Duba, Mrs. Bruce A. LaBar and Mrs. David M. Ludlum.

SCOUT TROOP FORMING

In West Windsor. A new Boy Scout troop is organizing in the West Windsor-Princeton area. The troop plans to meet Wednesday nights at the Princeton Baptist Church in Penn's Neck.

Boys 11 to 15 years old who would like to join should attend a meeting at the church any Wednesday at 7:30. Parents also are invited. For further information call the Rev. Donald Snyder, 452-9213, or David Parris, 443-4671.

VOLUNTEERS SOUGHT

By Red Cross. The Princeton Chapter of the American Red Cross is seeking school age volunteers for summer work in various institutions in the Princeton-Hightstown-Montgomery area. Young people between the ages of 12 and 18 are needed to work in hospitals, nursing homes, rehabilitation centers, nursery schools and day care centers.

Volunteers are sought at day camps for mentally retarded and neurologically impaired children, and to work as receptionists, clerical aides and blood bank workers. The Meals on Wheels program seeks drivers to deliver hot meals to the elderly and shut-in.

Red Cross volunteers are trained free of charge by the Red Cross or by institutions for which they work. Transportation may be arranged in some cases to assignments. Youth are required to work a minimum of four hours a week, with time allowed for vacations.

Those interested are asked to visit the Red Cross chapter at 182 North Harrison Street or to call Maryann Fazio, youth director, at 924-2404.

'HOT' TOP IN STORE

For Roof Rovers. Children who spend their evenings playing on the roof of the Princeton Shopping Center may be in for a shock. Harold H. Goldberg & Co., the managing agent of the center, has announced that it will equip all the roofs above the Shopping Center stores with electrical wiring.

"The shock won't be harmful," says Priscilla L. Cohan, resident manager of the center, "but it will be enough to discourage children from climbing up." The Shopping Center officials are concerned about possible dangers to children who play on the roofs and also about the damage the children are causing to the roofs.

The management has asked parents to warn their children about the hazards of playing on the roofs and about the new wiring, which is expected to be installed within weeks.

DANCE, ART SHOW SET

For Haitian Scholarships. An evening of West Indian music, food and art will be presented Saturday, May 25, from 8:30 to 3 at the Masonic Temple, John and Maclean streets. Proceeds will go toward the Haitian Scholarship Fund of Princeton.

QUARRY FETE PLANNED

For more information call Millie Intartaglia, 924-1863, or John De Grazia, 921-3438.

BLAWENBURG TOUR SET

Five Homes Open. The Blawenburg Reformed Church and five homes in the Princeton-Skillman-Hopewell area will be open for public tour Saturday, June 8, from noon to 5. Donations of $5 will help pay for the new pipe organ at the church, which is located on Route 518 in Blawenburg.

A limited number of buses will leave from the church at noon, 1:30 and 3. An informal organ recital and complimentary tea will be held in the church. Ticket information can be obtained by calling Mrs. Hoagland, 466-0810, or Mrs. Parsell, 466-3442.

Buildings on the tour include:

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Skillman, County Route 13, Skillman. The original part of the house was built in the early 1700s. In 1948, while restoring the house, the Skillmans discovered that newspapers from the year 1845 had been used to insulate the kitchen fireplace.

"The Noble Barn," the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Hunt, Cherry Valley Road. Built around 1800, this English barn was originally part of the Tulane estate. The original beam structure of the barn has been retained along with much of the wide cedar and pine flooring. The former haylofts have been converted into bedrooms and laundry rooms.

Sculptural Effect. The home of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Sandmaier, Rolling Hill Road, Skillman. This contemporary home presents a striking sculptural effect with interwoven roof plains that create four levels in the back. A free-standing circular stairway is a focal point in the front of the house.

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Steffens, Cherry Valley Road. Built in 1795 by French exile Peter Malou, the house has three working fireplaces.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Glen L. Heaton, 45 Columbia Avenue. The bright lilac Victorian house that is so noticeable from the road, the Heaton residence is as colorful inside as out. Purple, avocado, orange and white are sprinkled throughout. Lattice cupboard doors, lace curtains and "gingerbread" decor add to the variety of this house, which was built in 1877.

The Blawenburg Reformed Church. Fifty-four subscribers donated $2,791.25 in 1829 to provide funds to construct "the Second Reformed Dutch Church of Harlingen at

CANDIDATE AND FRIEND: Fred Bohen, candidate for the Democratic nomination in New Jersey's Fifth Congressional District, chats with Dr. Jennifer Macleod after a recent "talk-back" session in Princeton on campaign issues. Discussing with Dr. Macleod the special concerns of women, Mr. Bohen said he favors incorporation of Federal money into a flexible, neighborhood-centered day care program, and freedom-of-choice for women in regard to childbirth. (Elaine Miller Photo)

In the Market for a House? Half a Ton Of Silver Coins Will Get You This One

If you have half a ton of silver coins in the front closet, you can buy a house in Princeton on Oakland Avenue for $19,900. John Bennett, of 48 Oakland, is offering his eight-room house for that sum in silver coins—dimes, quarters, half-dollars.

Mr. Bennett used to be a coin collector. He sold his collection to finance purchase of the house three years ago, and now he simply wants to get back what he put in. But the market has changed.

A thousand dollars worth of dimes, quarters and half-dollars, face value, weighs 715 troy ounces and Mr. Bennett says that in the past three months the market value of silver coins has fluctuated from a low of $4.15 per troy ounce all the way up to $6.40. In November, 1971, when Mr. Bennett bought his house the market value was $1.30.

People in Princeton do indeed have silver coins and Mr. Bennett has several calls from prospective buyers of his house. If you like the house, but don't have coins? Well, you might talk to a bank or to a coin dealer.

About that half-ton. Coins come in bags of $1,000 each, weighing 715 troy ounces or about 55 pounds, avoirdupois. Takes about 20 bags to make up the price of the house, or around a thousand pounds.

BEEKEEPERS WARNED

Toxic Spraying Planned. Princeton Township and the New Jersey Department of Agriculture will conduct an aerial spraying program during the middle of this month to control gypsy moths. Control agent being used is carbaryl (Sevin), which is toxic to bees.

The areas to be sprayed include Ridgeview Road, Ridgeview Circle, Heather Lane, Drake's Corner Road and parts of Cherry Valley Road and the Great Road. In addition to the Township program, private spraying programs have been approved in the areas of Stuart Road, Hardy Drive, Crooked Tree Lane, Woods Way and Beech Hill Circle.

Beekeepers within one-half mile of these areas should plan to remove their bees from the spray area or to provide a bee trap at the entrance to the hive. Bee traps are available without charge from the Department of Agriculture. For information on obtaining one contact the Township Clerk's office, 924-5749.

UFW BENEFIT SET

At Trinity Church. A Mexican dinner to benefit the United Farm Workers of the AFL-CIO will be served Saturday, May 18, at 6 in Trinity Church, 33 Mercer Street. The menu will include tostadas, enchiladas and salad made without iceberg lettuce.

A slide show on the 1973 grape strike will be shown after dinner. Tickets, at $3 for adults and $1.50 for children, are available at the Peace Center, 163 Nassau Street, from 11 to 1 and 2 to 5 Monday through Friday, or from Eleanor Wells, 921-7312, evenings.

PLOTS PROVIDED

For Amateur Farmers. More than 250 amateur farmers will be hoeing vegetable crops on three acres of land provided by Princeton University this summer, reviving memories of World War II victory garden days.

Officials at the University's Office of Personnel Services, who are coordinating arrangements, expressed surprise today at the large response to the recent announcement that a limited number of 500 square foot plots would be made available free of charge to employees desiring to raise their own fresh produce.

The land, on the site of a former University nursery, has been plowed and disced by the University, and plots are being staked out, numbered, and assigned this week. Water will be available, but all other equipment, materials, and labor will be provided by the gardeners.

"It will be good for exercise as well as the tummy," observed Harleigh R. Kemmerer, Manager of Grounds Maintenance and Landscape Architect at Princeton, who pointed out that the 25-by-20 foot plots are "pretty sizeable gardens to work by hand. You don't just plant them and forget them."

Canning, Too. He added that the lots were of sufficient size for a series of crops, producing vegetables for daily use and, perhaps, a little canning.

For the amateur gardener, Princeton also is offering three 2-hour instruction programs on the do's and don'ts of vegetable gardening. The classes, which will be scheduled in the evening, will be led by Bruce H. Edwards, Associate Director of the Office of Personnel Services. Edwards said today that almost 90 percent of those signing up had indicated an interest in the classes.

Originally suggested last year and now endorsed by the University Environmental Advisory Committee, headed by Thomas C. Southerland, Jr., Assistant Dean for Administration and Research in the School of Architecture and Urban Planning, and an active conservationist, the garden project was further spurred by requests this season for space by a number of faculty, administrators, and staff members.

The area selected is located off Faculty Road and adjacent to the Bedford and Gulick athletic fields. Edwards said while he hoped no family wishing a plot would be turned down, assignments are on a first-come, first served basis.

NEW SHOP TO OPEN

Featuring Marimekko. Marimekko, the Finnish fabric that is currently fashionable in clothing as well as home furnishings will be featured in a new store, Karelia, opening this Saturday at 20 Nassau Street.

Finnish-born E. Maria Frey and Mary Lou Albahary, both residents of Rocky Hill, are the owners and managers of the new store, which will also carry hand-crafted jewelry and Scandanavian imports.

"Marimekko" is a household word around Boston, where the bold, innovative, colorful hand-printed cottons were introduced by Design Research. D—R International, founded in Cambridge by a group of architects intent on improving design and materials of the things we live with, is the exclusive importer and distributor of Marimekko products.

Karelia in Eastern Finland, is the birthplace of Maria Frey, and of Armi Ratia, the gifted and unconventional designer who founded Marimekko in 1951 (it means "little dress for Mary" in Finnish). Karelia will be one of about 150 specialty shops throughout the U.S. featuring Marimekko.

The aptly named new Princeton shop will carry a complete line of the fine quality 54" wide heavy duty cotton and vinyl fabrics, designed by Finland's leading graphic artists.

The typical big, abstract designs in vivid hues or rich earth tones, are silk screen printed by pairs of workers, with the special dyes applied wet on a dry surface to create the peculiarly intense colors. They are all machine washable.

The fabrics can be purchased by the yard for decorating or dressmaking, or the ever-popular wall hangings. There will be kits of wood strips for making your own wall hanging. For the home there will be ready-made pillows, quilts, table cloths, placemats, pot holders in the dynamic and vivid colors that add a refreshing look to any room.

Dresses in cottons and knits, designed and manufactured in Finland, will be the feature of the ready-to-wear collection of clothing and accessories. It will also include shirts and blouses, men's ties, aprons (in both genders), clever headgear, and the timeless Marimekko wrap-around skirt, in long and short versions.

A unique custom service will allow you to select your own fabric for draperies, slipcovers, bedspreads, or anything else, to be handmade locally by an expert seamstress to your order and measurements.

Custom made laminated window shades (vinyl-backed fabric), with a unique reverse roller, are another specialty. They give a lift to any room and eliminate curtains. Table cloths of any shape or size are available in both cotton and the durable soft and shiny vinyl.

Karelia will also carry a special line of wood and silver Aarikka jewelry and Kalevala Koru reproductions of old Viking pieces, imported directly from Finland, and the sterling silver and gold jewelry of Ed Levin, noted Bennington, Vt. metal craftsman. In the Fall, Settebello-Vaccaro sweaters will join the exclusive lines.

STOCK SPLIT VOTED

By Squibb Shareholders. Squibb Corporation has approved a proposal to split its common stock two-for-one, increase its dividend, and has elected T. Kirk Parrish, president of its Lanvin-Charles of the Ritz subsidiary, to the corporation's Board of Directors.

At the seventh annual meeting of the diversified pharmaceutical company it was announced that shareholders had overwhelmingly ratified a Board of Directors proposal, announced February 27, to increase the corporation's 30 million authorized shares of common stock to 60 million. The split becomes effective May 20.

Following the annual meeting, the Board of Directors declared a dividend for the second quarter of 42 cents per share on the pre-split shares (equivalent to 21 cents per share on the split shares) as compared with 40½ cents per share paid in the fourth quarter of 1973 and in the first quarter of 1974. The dividend is payable June 10 to holders of record May 20.

APPOINTMENT NOTED

At May Agency. William R. Wellemeyer of Blawenburg has joined the office staff of the real estate department of the May Agency. He is the former owner and operator of the Dairy Queen Brazier in Blawenburg.

A long-time resident of Montgomery Township, Mr. Wellemeyer is president and

MOONEY 2-HITS THS

Strikes Out 13. A week ago when Princeton High and Trenton battled to a rain-cancelled 1-1 tie, THS coach Lou LiMato said at the time that for his money PHS pitcher John Mooney was the best he'd seen in the area.

Mooney did nothing to change LiMato's opinion here Tuesday as he held Trenton to a pair of hits, one a single by Sal Angotti in the first when the Tornadoes scored their only run. He struck out 13, including the side in the second inning. In addition, Mooney had two of Princeton's 10 hits off Trenton's Kevin Williams (1-2) as PHS won, 7-1.

In ending Princeton's nine-game losing streak, Mooney has the distinction of pitching wins over THS as a sophomore, junior and senior.

Princeton scored four runs in the sixth on hits by Don Seitz, Mooney, Pete Watson, catcher Eddie Volz, whose liner over short drove into a pair of runs, and George Reynolds' double. Reynolds had two hits in four appearances and three runs batted in.

PHS tied the game in the first when Bob Zinsmeister walked, stole second and rode home on Steve Kopp's single. In the second, Mooney's single, a stolen base, passed ball, walk and Reynolds' single produced two more runs.

At the start of the last inning, a PHS onlooker said, "It looks as if you guys are going to climb out of the pit," referring to those nine straight losses. This time, after blowing a two-run lead in the final inning the day before, PHS did not make any mistakes. Mooney set Trenton down in order on a fly to center, a pop to first and fanned the final batter.

"We hit the ball well," said PHS coach Don Blankenbush, who added: "This sure beats losing." The two teams are scheduled to replay that 1-1 tie on Thursday. PHS is now 3-9; Trenton 4-9.

Fake $20 Bill Appears

Observing that "this is often the beginning of a rash of counterfeit money," Chief Michael Carnevale reported Tuesday that a fake $20 bill was discovered last week in a deposit made by a Princeton merchant at the Princeton Bank and Trust. Chief Carnevale said that merchants should be on the alert.

Police described the bogus bill, which bore the serial number B0007324A, as a "poor counterfeit." Detective Timothy Huizing is investigating.

PHS NINE FALLS AGAIN

In Last Inning, 5-4. The Princeton High School baseball team appeared to be well on the way to ending an eight-game losing streak Monday when it led Franklin Township, 4-2, going into the last inning.

However, the home team warriors came up with three runs, combining two walks, a wild pitch, a single and a passed ball to score twice to tie and then won it when pitcher Jack Marold singled home the winning run.

The Little Tigers will be idle until Tuesday when they entertain Ewing in a 3:45 contest. Earlier in the week, PHS and Trenton battled to a 1-1 tie before the game was halted after six innings by rain. It is scheduled to be replayed in its entirety.

PHS hurler John Mooney had ten strikeouts in the Trenton game and singled in his team's only run in the fourth after Don Seitz had singled and stolen second. Trenton scored in the first on a leadoff double and Bobby Zinsmeister's error in right field.

Other Sports On Pages 14B-19B

Against Franklin, PHS scored all its runs in the feurth. Back-to-back errors by the Warriors' shortstop and a walk jammed the bases. Steve Kopp's sacrifice fly brought in one run.

Then Zinsmeister, who had three singles in three appearances at the plate, singled home the second. After Mark Dalton had walked, the ball got by the Franklin catcher for a two-run error. In all, Franklin committed four errors in the inning, six in the game.

George Reynolds, who relieved Pete Watson in the seventh, took the loss. PHS made four hits -- Larry Howell had the fourth -- while Franklin had six. Princeton pitchers fanned eight; Franklin's two struck out six.

PHS was guilty of four errors in the loosely-played game as its record dipped to 2-9. Franklin is 9-7.

PHS NO MATCH

For Ewing Track Team, Ewing's undefeated senior-dominated track team, which has steamrollered everyone is sight this spring, flattened Princeton High School, 97-33, here Monday.

"They were just too strong for us," admitted PHS coach Marc Anderson. "We knew it would be a hopeless cause before we went into the meet." Nonetheless, he reported that his runners turned is some pretty good times -- despite the opposition and despite terrible track conditions. One entire curve, Anderson reported, was under an inch of water.

Fred Wilson won the 440 is 52.1; Pete Nichols captured the two-mile in 10:10 and Mark McLean finished first in the pole vault with a winning vault of 11-6.

Royce Flippin finished second -- by .4 of a second -- behind Ewing's standout miler, Jim Wylie, who had just won the Mercer County Tournament Individual Championship Saturday with a 4:30 effort.

In the field events, where PHS is weaker, Ewing larded it on, sweeping the shot, discus and javelin. The Little Tigers are now 4-5 in dual meet competition with meets left agains Lawrence and Hightstown.

6 MATCHES, 6 WINS

For PHS Tennis Team. The Princeton High School tennis team did some streaking of its own last week, sweeping past five opponents in five days -- all but one by scores of 5-0 -- and then topping it off Monday with a 4-1 victory over rival Princeton Day School. Coach Bill Humes commented that he was "very pleased, needless to say," over the week's results.

PHS has two more matches left and was scheduled to begin competition in the state tournament this Wednesday when it opposes the winner of the Franklin Township-JFK match in opening round play. The Little Tigers are the defending Group fII Central Jersey Champions.

Against PDS, Princeton swept all three singles matches. Andre Eichenberger defeated Evan Bash, 6-0, 6-4, in the number one match; Dan Aronovic stopped Chris Miller, 6-3, 6-4, and Dan

CAN YOU FIND...

A number of rather special books, rare first or limited editions. Our annual spring reaction to you know what. All in pristine condition, usually dust jackets and so forth. Arthur Rackhams. A first in "Child's Garden of Verse" by Jesse Wilcox Smith. Among the Rackhams, "Comus" by John Milton, "Tales from Shakespeare" by Charles and Mary Lamb and "Aesop's Fables."

Early Mexican outfits from South Mexico dated about 1902. Hand woven fabrics and all hand work. What a difference from the "boutiquy" things they sell in New York these days.

Dark cambric and gingham long American skirts of the late 1800s. (Would we could find a hundred more genuine ones.)

"Old Tennant Church" rare early book.

Going to press a few Navajo rugs, they look good.

Contemporary Bedens Brook Villa

Just a few minutes from downtown Princeton yet hidden away in a private country setting overlooking Bedens Brook is a delightfully landscaped contemporary villa where communion with nature is the keynote. The creatively designed floor plan is centered on a magnificent huge indoor atrium-greenhouse where a heated pool, fig trees, palms and even a blooming bird of paradise set the stage for a wonderful tropical vacation all year long. Opening on to this marvelous scene is a plush living room with fireplace, elegant dining room, family room with fireplace, eat-in kitchen and master suite with separate dressing areas and baths. There are 4 or 5 bedrooms in all and an enormous three car garage. A wonderful home in a delightful setting for some very important person $155,000

For Ajile Dancers, It's the Spirit of Africa, Rather Than Absolute Ethnic Authenticity

"'Ajile' is a Yoruba word meaning 'A gift to our town' and we want to express some kind of gift every time we perform—inspiration, perhaps, or a certain kind of feeling."

Lithe, soft-spoken young Terrie Austin will lead her Ajile dancers this weekend in their final production of the season for the Princeton Youth Center. It's called "Escape to the Sun" and it will be presented Saturday and Sunday at 8 p.m. at John Witherspoon School.

"In 'Escape to the Sun' we see individuals trapped in their own little worlds, moving from that trapped feeling to trying to escape," Ms. Austin explains, "'Money-money' shows how that can trap and confuse people; 'Lady Day' is that blues feeling when everything goes wrong. Then the dances are more positive and with 'Summer Breezes' and 'Grandma's Hands' we show reaching out to be free—the freedom of happiness."

"One dance, symbolic of struggle—we dedicate that to all African leaders, past or present, who have led the struggle for liberation, then we dance 'Keep Your Head to the Sky!'"

"OK—we dedicate that dance to African leaders, but our dances are not Africa AS SUCH. We create our dances to express our spirits in such a way that they will be felt by the audience. It's not a specific, ethnic thing."

"A GIFT TO OUR TOWN": That's the meaning of "Ajile," the Princeton Youth Center dance group founded by Terrie Austin, shown here. The mask was made by Center members for a voodoo dance performed for Ajile's first production at the Center two years ago. "Escape to the Sun," the group's final 1973-74 presentation, will be given this weekend.

The Background. In the two years since the Ajile Dancers were formed, Terrie Austin has often been asked what part of Africa this dance comes from, what village that dance belongs to, and she is often disturbed by this.

"We aren't trying to do authentic African dance!" she emphasizes, "but to focus on the African spirit, as it came to the United States. The meaning of dance was taken away at that time, and people are now looking for this meaning—in dance and music. We use jazz, blues—African spirit that did carry on."

"In our dance class, we are reaching for our roots, but at the same time creating something, an authenticity, that is all our own. 'Let's create!' I say to the girls!"

In a single Ajile show, perhaps four dancers may present what they have created on their own, but everyone in the group contributes ideas. The 35 dancers, all women, range from 18 years old "on up," and they are mothers, workers, housewives, students and sometimes all those rolled into one.

The meet with Terrie Austin Mondays and Thursdays for three-hour sessions.

Quick to Learn. "Dances, to me, are so beautiful! Some of the sisters at Westminster Choir College—in only a week's time, using drums, with everyone partaking—so beautiful and with such meaning!"

One of the most ambitious Ajile presentations was "Life," from an idea by Carl Richardson, Trenton playwright. Beginning with a movement, "Conception," concentrating on the beauty of sexuality, the dance proceeded through "Pregnancy," in which the woman's physical and spiritual development proceeded simultaneously with the development of the embryo, through "Birth" with the violence of loud music, drum-rolls and flashing lights, carefree to "Childhood", the troubled transition period of "Young Adult," to a climax in "Adulthood," in which the dancers demonstrated, in Ms. Austin's words, "that only those who are strong, determined and prepared will succeed," and a final resolution in "Death."

"I want to do that again," she recalls with satisfaction, "It was a tremendous challenge."

"American Fruits—African Roots," presented as Ajile's spring show last year, could have been filmed for teaching, Ms. Austin believes. It grew out of student teaching she did at Community Park School that year. Pre-adolescent students came to the Center and with Ms. Austin, learned African history and developed a slave-ship dance, a dance based on life in an African village, a slave auction.

Ms. Austin was student-teaching as part of her work at Princeton University, from which she was graduated in 1973. She came here in 1971 as a transfer from Barnard, where she had studied African dance from a Ghanan teacher who taught authentic dances from that area. She studied also with Chuck Davis' New York company, absorbing authentic movements.

About the future. Whether this weekend will be the final Ajile production in a literal sense is still uncertain. The dancers may continue during the summer, but next fall Ms. Austin will be teaching "somewhere in New Jersey" (depending on where her husband attends medical school) and dance at the Center may be quite different.

Several dancers in the Ajile group have had some success with choreography, and, as Ms. Austin says, "a lot of the sisters have ability, not yet developed, but still the ability to perform," and it's possible that the classes may form into some kind of club which may continue into next fall.

News Of The THEATRES

ONE-ACTERS COMING

From Community Players. In 1967, when "You Know I Can't Hear You When the Water's Running" was a Broadway hit, to put a naked man on the stage required a good bit of rationalizing. The situation arises in the first of the four one-act plays ("The Shock of Recognition") that make up Robert Anderson's comedy, with which the Princeton Community Players will end their season on May 24-26 and May 30-June 1.

A playwright decides to have the husband momentarily step out of the bathroom "au naturel." The playwright is motivated by high artistic reasons, but when an eager applicant for the part shows how he would do it, the playwright's embarrassment is the heart of the comedy.

The second playlet, "The Footsteps of Doves," shows a middle-aged couple in a furniture store, disputing whether to change from a double to twin beds. In "I'll Be Home for Christmas," the most serious of the one-acters, a husband and wife reveal what has happened to their marriage as they discuss their children's sex problems. The fourth playlet, "I'm Herbert," is the muddled conversation of an old couple recalling past love affairs but getting hilariously confused as to who was involved with whom.

Directing the production is Leo J. Cohen, one of the Players' top performers. To his credit as a director are "Black Comedy," "The Madwoman of Chaillot," "The Hostage," "The Lady's Not for Burning" and "Spoon River Anthology," and he has acted for the local group in "The Male Animal," "The Caucasian Chalk Circle," "The Trojan Women" and "The Drunkard." He was also seen in "Dark of the Moon" at McCarter Theatre, "Inherit the Wind" at the Theatre in the Park in Trenton, "The Devil's Disciple" and "Waltz of the Toreadors" at the Washington Crossing open air theatre.

Assistant directors with Mr. Cohen are Sandra Jefferson and Michael McGrath. Miss Jefferson has appeared frequently in Players productions, most recently this winter in "The Loves of Cass McGuire." Mr. McGrath, who is a doctoral candidate in Chinese history at Princeton University, last acted the part of the stockbroker in "The Madwoman of Chaillot."

To reserve tickets for "You Know I Can't Hear You When the Water's Running," call 924-3947 (after 6:00 p.m.) If no answer, the number to call is 921-3477. Curtain time, at the Little Theatre of the Unitarian Church, will be 8:30.

Intime's Production of 17th Century Tragedy Proves Fast and Colorful But Somewhat Uneven

Theatre-lovers have reason to be grateful to a university-based group such as Theatre Intime when it brings to life on the stage a play which ordinarily serves only as a reading assignment for literature students. Such an event is the presentation of John Ford's 17th century tragedy, " 'Tis Pity She's a Whore," at Murray Theatre, continuing this Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The core of the plot is the incestuous love of Giovanni and Annabella, a brother and sister, of Parma. Made pregnant by her brother, she seeks to cover up her fault by marrying a nobleman, Soranzo. Two other suitors of Annabella, Soranzo's meddling servant Vasques, and a resentful beauty whom Soranzo once betrayed now spin webs of intrigue, the most compelling motive being revenge for real or fancied wrongs.

A crescendo of violence erupts in poisonings and stabbings. Certain touches of horror are almost too thick for a modern audience to take. Nevertheless the playwright has alternated grimness with scenes of humor and passages of poetic beauty. It is an interesting play--in the words of historian C.V. Wedgwood, "a mixture of crudity and tenderness."

The production directed by Joseph R. Harbeson is fast and colorful. It is also somewhat uneven. Blank verse is a merciless exposer of slipshod speech, and a small minority of the cast offend either by talking too fast without enunciation, or by shuffling through the lines without emphasis or noticeable understanding.

Good Examples. Acting Shakespeare--or John Ford--is good training for any would-be actor, and neophytes in the present cast could hardly do better than to study the style and delivery of two of their company: James Horton (Soranzo) and Eric Zwemer (Bergetto). Their parts are widely different--the former controlled, self-assured, rising to passionate anger; the latter farcically giddy--but both actors are beautifully intelligible and thoroughly believable. Zwemer goes a step further: he uses voice, face and even body language to convey the foppish fool Bergetto.

When good actors share the stage by themselves, the impression of unevenness vanishes. To this reviewer the finest scene is that in which Soranzo berates his bride Annabella (played by Kimberly Myers) for her deception and tries to drag from her the name of her lover, finally calming down to an assumed forgiveness at the cunning arguments of the hypocrite Vasques (convincingly acted by Mark Wright).

As Annabella, Miss Myers is appealing and natural. She conveys strong emotion without "tearing a passion to tatters." I should like to say as much of Mark Nelson's Giovanni, for he acts sincerely and this part as written challenges an actor with some pretty bombastic language.

To be honest, however, I was only half convinced that Giovanni deeply loves or really suffers. Nelson's Giovanni seemed to me to be too articulate, more studied than felt.

Other Credits. In smaller roles, I liked Adrienne Parks for her passionate, smoldering Hippolita; Christopher Talbott for the natural dignity of his Donado; and the Poggio of William Bowman, who can trigger a laugh by merely raising an eyebrow.

The set designed by Sara Rogers is a pleasure to look at. It shares, however, in the unevenness mentioned earlier, for the placing of steps and available exits leads to some awkwardness in getting actors off the stage.

If I have overstressed flaws in the production, then this review is guilty of unevenness. The play offers much for the eye to delight in and for the mind to reflect on. It is a classic illustration of "the conflict between the world's opinion and the heart's desire" (Havelock Ellis).

It affords us a view of an unfamiliar genre, the tragedy of revenge. And it winds up a Theatre Intime season distinguished by variety and quality: "Adaptation" and "Next," "Measure for Measure," "Slow Dance on the Killing Ground," "The American Dream" and "The Sandbox," "Citizen Kong," and now " 'Tis Pity She's a Whore."

THIS SATURDAY...

Billy Cobham. Last in the season of pop concerts for McCarter will be Billy Cobham, the rock-jazz percussionist who will perform this Saturday at 8 p.m. in McCarter.

A native of Panama, Billy Cobham grew up in New York City. Playing only by ear, with no formal training in music, he was accepted into New York City's High School of Music and Art, and began to play in earnest, and seek out other musicians to join him.

After playing with both Billy Taylor and the New York Jazz Sextet in 1967 and 1968, he met Miles Davis and joined the Davis group as drummer. He recorded three albums with Davis, including the best-seller, "Bitches Brew."

BERGMAN, ET AL

Tanner, Skolimowski. Films from the cameras of Ingmar Bergman, Alain Tanner and Jerzy Skolimowski will be featured during May at McCarter.

"Cries and Whispers," the Bergman film nominated for an Oscar as the Best Foreign Film of 1973, will be screened twice this Friday—7 and 9 p.m. It earned four awards from the New York film critics last year, including "Bests" for picture, director, screenplay and actress. The award-winning actress was Liv Ullman.

"La Salamandre," next Monday at 7 p.m. and 9:15 p.m., is the 1971 Swiss film by Alain Tanner. It is in French with English sub-titles. It's about a young girl and the menage-a-trois she maintains with two writers who are investigating a crime she may have committed.

"Deep End," from Skolimowski, is a West German film made in English and shot in London. It will receive a single showing next Wednesday, May 22 at 8 p.m. It deals with a 15-year-old boy who is an attendant in a London public bath where he becomes infatuated with a 22-year-old girl who is his co-worker.

IS IT SUMMER?

Yes, for Intime. Summer Intime, the warm-weather child of Theatre Intime, will once again be on the Princeton University campus in Murray Theatre, this time for an eight-week season starting early in July.

A late-night "Cabaret" on Saturdays is a possibility for this summer, according to Daniel F. Berkowitz, who's organizing the season. Mr. Berkowitz envisions a short, informal entertainment -- different each week -- rather like a nightclub revue.

He's also planning four Drama Series productions, a film series and children's theatre. There will be money-saving subscriptions and a drive for Sponsors and Patrons. (Interested? Write Summer Intime, Murray Theatre, Princeton, N.J.)

Backstage, Mr. Berkowitz plans an administrative trainee program so that newcomers can be brought along to run the season in coming years. Mr. Berkowitz himself led Summer Intime in 1972. Last year, he managed the Princeton Theatre Company at Rider.

He plans to enlist University undergraduates who are eager to learn the ropes, draw back previous Summer Intime alumni and launch a fund-raising program substantial enough to enable Summer Intime to put money in the bank against next year and the year after.

Joining Mr. Berkowitz as directors for the season are Sallie Brophy and Larry Strichman.

PLAYHOUSE

The Last Picture Show and Easy Rider -- a double feature. The former is Peter Bogdanovitch's compassionate and deeply moving film about growing up and growing old in a small Texas town in the early 1950s. If you didn't see it the first time around, see it now.

Anarene is a town that's dying right in front of you. As soon as high school graduation ceremonies are over, the young try to get out if they can. As for the older generation in Anarene, there is no escape; they have made their compromise with life.

The acting is a cause for celebration. Everyone associated with the film is memorable. Ben Johnson won an Academy Award for his portrayal of the aging Texan who runs the town's pool hall.

Three more excel: Cloris Leachman as a lonely, frustrated housewife who finds unexpected sexual release and romance; Ellen Burstyn as a sexy but fading matron who engages in countless infidelities hoping to discover a second time someone who knows her real worth, and Cybill Shepherd as Anarene's prettiest girl. Jeff Bridges and Timothy Bottoms are superb as two high school buddies.

This film is just about the finest American movie in years about small town life. It's appeal is across the board: it should move, entertain -- and involve -- all who see it.

"Easy Rider," when it burst on the screen five years ago, was a frightening view of America as seen through youthful, hippy eyes. It was a one-sided but effective statement of bigotry that remains just as powerful today.

"Easy Rider" traces the path of two motorcyclists -- Peter Fonda and Dennis Hopper -- across the southwest to New Orleans. In jail is a small, red-neck southern town they meet a lawyer, ACLU worker and son of a rich man stunningly portrayed by Jack Nicholson.

"Easy Rider" catches the mistique of the motorcycle, the timeless beauty of the countryside. The dozen rock and folk rock songs sung by various groups and performers add another important dimension to the film.

However, the core remains Fonda and Hopper, two withdrawn, alienated, inarticulate, somehow pathetic (sometimes poetic and often humourous) products of a society that finally murders them to prevent them from doing their thing.

The desperation of depression which leads to an LSD trip in New Orleans is well done. On the whole, Fonda and Hopper succeed in their statement.

BENEFIT CONCERT SET

Chambers Music Monday. The second annual Spring Festival of Chamber Music, sponsored by the University-NOW Day Nursery, will be held Monday at 8:30 in Alexander Hall, featuring the music of Beethoven, Mozart, Krommer and Chaminade.

The U-Now Nursery is the only one in the Princeton area offering full-day, year-round day care for children 2 to 5 years old (including a kindergarten program). Founded in 1970 with help from the National Organization of Women and Princeton University, the school endeavors to provide varied, diverse programs that encourage each child's growth, independence, curiosity and development of skills.

It also enables parents to pursue their work, interests and careers, assured that their children are receiving care at a reasonable cost. There is currently a long waiting list and one of the inherent aims of the concert is to raise funds that would help maintain reasonable tuition rates and extend scholarship assistance.

Musicians donating their time and talent include Bethany Beardslee, soprano; Jayn Rosenfeld, flute; Martha Helms, oboe; Geoffrey Michaels, violin; Susan Chamberlain, viola; Peter Rosenfield, cello; Phyllis Lehrer, piano; and Randolph Haviland, bassoon.

Of particular interest on the program will be the "Glass Harmonica" Quintet by Mozart which, while now performed on the piano, was originally intended to be played on the glass harmonica, invented by Benjamin Franklin. Also of special interest will be a piece by Franz Krommer for flute and strings. Rounding out the program will be a Concertino by Cecile Chaminade, Bach obligato arias to be performed by Bethany Beardslee, and Beethoven's piano trio, Opus 70, Number 2.

Tickets are available at $2.50 from the University Store, Hulit's , Allens, Bellows and Iris, or at the door. For further information, call 924-4214.

FLUTIST: Jayne Rosenfeld is among the Princeton musicians who will be heard in Monday's benefit for the University NOW-Day Nursery. She is the mother of two enrolled there.

RECITAL TUESDAY

At Miller Chapel. "Virtuoso Music for Soprano and Trumpet from the English Baroque" is the theme of a recital to be held at Miller Chapel, Princeton Theological Seminary, on Tuesday at 8 p.m. The program will include Handel's "Let the Bright Seraphim", Purcell's "Thus the Gloomy World" and "Sound, Fame, Thy Brazen Trumpet Sound"; and a suite of fanfares and voluntaries for trumpet by Purcell and Jeremiah Clark. Admission to the recital is free.

Those who will take part include an experienced oratorio soloist, coloratura soprano, Lynelle Williams, who has sung with Robert Shaw and soloed with the Atlanta Singers, the Atlanta Chamber Opera, the Wilmington Opera Society and the Madrigal Singers of Wilmington.

Michael B. Myers joined the Topeka Civic Symphony at age 17 and soloed with the Topeka Civic Chamber Orchestra. A specialist in baroque performance, Mr. Myers will perform on three different trumpets, the rare, valveless long Baroque trumpet; the coiled hunter's trumpet, and a modern piccolo trumpet.

Kenneth Williams, organist, received a B.A. in music from Boston University and the Master of Sacred Music degree from Union Theological Seminary, New York. "A Giant Step Backwards."
To the Editor of Town Topics:

Following is the text of a letter we have written to the Princeton Regional School Board:

The Central Jersey Branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People continues to be very gravely disturbed at the Board's obvious lack of sensitivity in the refusal to appoint Miss Virginia Euell as principal of the Middle School. We view this action by the Board as a giant step backwards for mankind, and a full step forward for racism. The nature of the whole situation in the area of racism needs, we feel, an honest and immediate appraisal, and a correction of this indignation done to this black woman.

We further contend that if the Board had acted with concern for all our children, and not out of hysteria for a few, this thing could not have happened. We also are upset by the knowledge that the rest of the world looks upon Princeton as a model, and this action, if not corrected, will become, we fear, like the shot that was heard around the world.

Furthermore, we feel that if the School Board understands the great need for black children to see members of their race in various professional positions, which would give these children the feeling that they, too, have a place in the sun, then the members of the Board would definitely act in a different manner. We further contend that it is everyone's duty to help raise the standard of living for a people that has been deprived for generations.

We are requesting, therefore, that the School Board grant us a date and a time to meet with you, so that we can discuss this situation. At this meeting there are several questions and concerns we would like to have answers to. Among them are: (1) Is there an established policy on procedure for hiring teachers?; (2) the number of black teachers in the system; (3) the undue pressure applied to black teachers; (4) the methods used to ascertain the hiring of and the replacement of black teachers; (5) the number of black professional personnel in each school for 1974-75; (6) a breakdown by individual school on the number of black teachers in each school.

We are expectantly awaiting your reply as to the time and date and place of our meeting with you.

Support Sought for Park.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

I am writing to ask you to support the efforts now under way to obtain the Spruce Street Quarry site for a park. Since 1967 this area has been designated on the Master Plan as a park, but nothing has been done.

Now, in 1974, this area remains the last open space in an area that includes 25 percent of the town's population including a high proportion of children and senior citizens. If this area is developed as housing, the population density of the area will reach city-like proportions, with no recreational area for either children or adults. As it stands now, there is no adequate recreational area for the local children and the elderly in Lloyd Terrace.

Given that we are committed to having Princeton retain its green image, the Spruce St. Quarry Park will benefit not just the residents of the Northeast Sector but all Princetonians. The park would be accessible to most people on foot, doing away with the automobile traffic we are even now having such problems with and would provide a safe play and leisure area that would belong to the people of Princeton, and be available to everyone.

"The Last Detail" recently, we had to sit through a short produced by A T & T. And when we saw "The Pedestrian" the other day, we had to sit through a short produced by the Government of Australia.

Not only are these shorts commercial or propagandistic; they are also a crashing bore. The groans, hisses, and boos which greet them should convince you that they are not worth seeing. We rather suspect the reason you put them on is to fill out a two hour period and because you get them free of charge. Can't you invest a little bit of money in the many brilliant shorts being made every year by creative filmmakers, here and abroad.

These shorts have no audience except in museums, special showings, and in theatres willing to take the initiative to secure them. At the very least, though, please spare us any more of these dreadful shorts.

"Appointment a Betrayal."
To the Editor of Town Topics:

I was shocked to read my friend Tom Hartmann's letter to TOWN TOPICS last week. I think the issue which Mr. Lombardo is raising is not the competency of Mrs. Penick, but the way she was appointed. Such important appointments should be open to all the townspeople, and not be restricted to those with such obvious class and political interests as Mrs. Penick.

Mrs. Penick was rejected by a large margin at the polls, and I consider her appointment a betrayal to the people who fought so hard to defeat the Republicans. The real issue here seems to be open versus closed government. At least what happens in Executive Sessions often determines the outcome of events.

The recent action of the School Board in relation to Virginia Euell and the activities surrounding IDA are prime examples. I was also sad to see Barbara Sigmund accuse Mr. Lombardo of McCarthyism. How can you, Barbara, accuse Marty of McCarthyism when he was the only one on Council who has been fighting McCarthyism all along, and had the guts to call for the impeachment of Richard Nixon before it was popular.

I also remember him leading efforts to rally support against the Vietnam war. Where were you, Barbara, on these issues?

I know what McCarthyism is: I suffered myself (and my family and friends) under it, and what Mr. Lombardo is doing could never be called McCarthyism. I think a real progressive Democrat should support rather than fight Marty.

Let us learn from the war and Watergate and make the town, the country and the world a good place to live for everyone, and not just for the privileged few. Let us see if we can make the capitalist system work for the good of all.

Direct Answers Wanted
To the Editor of Town Topics:

The citizens of Princeton Borough have a right to direct answers from their elected officials, when questions arise concerning rezoning, influence being used in appointments to a public board, or law suits in which the Borough is charged with intentional wrong doing, which consequently is being paid with tax dollars.

Councilman Lombardo has raised these and other questions. Why does the Mayor refuse to appoint a nonpartisan citizens group to look into these issues which have been raised?

It seems so far that the only response has been to condemn Mr. Lombardo personally for bringing the issues to light. It would be better for all concerned to deal with issues instead of character assasination.

For the Record.
To the Editor of Town Topics;

Despite the overtones of hostility in Ruth Sharon's letter of May 2, I feel sure her misconceptions about the N.J. Neuropsychiatric Institute and the April Annual benefit are based purely on lack of information. In order to be fair to the NJNPI patients and staff and to the hardworking and dedicated volunteers of the NJNPI Association, I want to try to set the record straight on some of her statements.

As a volunteer, Ms. Sharon must surely have had many opportunities to see the affection and attention given to the patients by the staff and other volunteers. I have worked as a volunteer in several of the wards for four years and would like to assure Ms. Sharon that she is very welcome to attend a monthly birthday party, a dance, a music therapy session, a day at summer camp—or any of the many activities and entertainments which bring a measure of happiness into the "barren emptiness of the lives of the patients." All these cost money (only a part of which is provided by the state) and depend for part of their funds on the NJNPI Association, which has raised over $250,000 in the last 20 years.

Their main money-raising event is the April Annual. It is open to the public at large and obviously has never been considered an entertainment for patients. Some patients do, however attend the Annual each year, and this year a number of the children visited the grounds of the Annual the day before.

Had Ms. Sharon checked with the Director of Volunteer Services, she could've taken all her patients to the tent. And any volunteer who wishes to take a patient to the luncheon simply buys an extra ticket.

It could hardly have been an Association member who looked "aghast" or "frightened" at seeing a patient, since many of these women have been serving as volunteers and visiting patients for years.

When Ms. Sharon has taken the opportunity to learn more about NJNPI and the hundreds of ways in which the Association helps the patients, she will be able to attend future April Annuals with a more open mind and a more relaxed spirit.

Surprise! Duster has a lower sticker price than Volkswagen.

It's true! Our Plymouth Duster is priced below Volkswagen's most popular model. But Duster offers a whole lot more, too. Like room for 5 instead of 4. And a trunk that's three times as big as the Super Beetle's. And Duster's sized right for small-car parking and handling, and runs on regular gas. Come on in to Joyland and check out Duster, now. It's a Joy!

In recent U.S. Auto Club tests, Duster's Slant 6 got better gas mileage on the open road than the Nova and Maverick 6. And, in city driving, even got slightly better mileage than the 4-cylinder Mustang II.

Gretchen Ward Warren, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Ward of Belle Mead, is a soloist with the Pennsylvania Ballet and has been dancing a solo role in two ballets. One is the Balanchine "Four Temperaments," in which she is one of the four, and the other is "Time Past Summer," choreographed by Ben Harkovy.

A graduate of Princeton High School (1962), Mrs. Warren is a graduate also of the Aparri School in Princeton, the National Ballet School in Washington and the Royal Ballet School in London.

Two area students, both sophomores at Princeton University, are rowing for the Tiger junior varsity lightweight crew. They are Jim Black, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Black of 348 Ridgeview Road; and John Hayes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart F. Hayes of 2481 Main Street, Lawrenceville. The JV lightweights, 4-0 this year, are ranked No. 2 in the East in junior varsity competition.

Lynn R. Anderson of 241 Mt. Lucas Road, an environmental consultant, has been named a legislative assistant by State Sen. Raymond H. Bateman (R-16th District). In announcing the appointment, Sen. Bateman said he was impressed by the quality of Anderson's work as principal investigator for the Delaware & Raritan Canal Legislative Study Commission, of which the Senator was chairman.

Mr. Anderson is completing work on his master's degree in public affairs at the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs at Princeton. He is presently engaged as a consultant to the Mercer-Somerset-Middlesex Regional Planning Commission, performing environmental impact analysis of development trends on municipal and public service provisions in the three suburban counties.

Dr. Rebenfeld is being recognized for his many diverse contributions to knowledge of fibers and fibrous materials; his strong leadership in textile research and education, resulting in improved bridges between basic science and industry technology.

He joined the Textile Research Institute in 1951 as a research fellow and has been successively a senior scientist, associate research director, and vice-president of Education and Research. He became president in 1971. At Princeton University, Dr. Rebenfeld was a visiting lecturer with rank of associate professor in the Department of Chemical Engineering, 1964-1970, and since 1971 has been a visiting lecturer with rank of professor in the same department.

AT RICCHARDS: Jill Rosso and Debbie Hampton model Johanesburg safari hats while admiring one of the many summer sandals in stock at Ricchards, 150 Nassau Street.

IT'S NEW To Us

IT'S ALL CASUAL

At Ricchard's. Life styles have taken an increasingly casual turn in recent years, and the spring and summer shoes at Ricchard's reflect this trend. Owner Dick Lanahan told us, "In the women's department there is no dress business, it's all casual."

There is every imaginable kind of sandal, with variations in the leather, heel and sole treatment, and the prices are surprisingly reasonable. Mr. Lanahan especially recommends the Bandolino corks for durability. These have cork platform soles and stacked heels, and come in several styles such as clog type sandal with an open toe and sides. In addition there is a choice of colors—navy, tan, white or red leather, $17.

S.R.O. has a tan or white sandal with criss-cross straps, a rope sole and wedge heel, and a thin crepe bottom for durability, $22; and Bally has a pretty one with overlapping leather on the toe and a high stacked heel—it comes in white, red or brown, $30.

We also saw a group of hand-made sandals from New England, some flats and others with low heels, $15-18; and rugged casual sandals by Bort Carleton that have been extremely popular. One style is made of woven rope in a natural color, and another with a platform sole is made of a softly colored patchwork fabric, $23 and $24.

Color Important. Color is also important this season. S.R.O. has a low-heeled thong sandal in a soft muted yellow, green, red, navy, white or brown, $19; and by Amalfi we saw a dressy sandal with many thin criss-crossed straps. With a low heel, it comes in a rainbow of colors—red, green, yellow, lavender, navy, white or black patent, $27.

The rope-soled espadrilles continue to be popular, and this season the original Basque-style ones have small rubber tips on the toes and heels. The tops are of course canvas, and the colors are bright—green, turquoise, yellow-orange, navy, white or brown, $9.

Another perennial favorite is the Olof Daughters clogs, and again color is quickly noted. In addition to the leather and suede ones, we saw brown, green, red, yellow, blue and white patent leather clogs, $15-$17. And for your daughter, Ricchard's also has tiny clogs in suede with an apple applique or in white patent.

Then for those extremely casual moments there are moccasins with a non-skid sole by Coombs of Maine, $17; and oil skins that make a great walking shoe, $25.

For Accessories, Ricchard's has a Johannesburg hat that "is walking out of the store." It is an appealing safari-type hat in a natural color with either a brown or multi-striped band, $12.

We also saw several different canvas bags, our favorite being the picnic basket. It comes in natural, navy or blue denim—each is lined in a matching gingham and can be monogramed free, $15. Other styles include a large floppy Bermuda bag or a sachel with leather handles.

For Men. Ricchard's also has a large men's department, and here the emphasis is on the dressy laced or slip-on shoes. You can choose from such well-known names as Wright Arch Preserver, Foot Joys, Allen Edmonds, Aldens or Bally, and the selection is huge.

However, the men also are turning more and more to the casual styles, and Mr. Lanahan has stocked Tretorns from Sweden, the Coombs moccasins for men, more oil skins, Frye hiking boots, and even some espadrilles and clogs.

We especially liked Bare Foot Gear's coach's shoe, a suede tennis sneaker with a non-skid sole. The suede breathes as well as canvas and has been chemically treated against wear, so it should last three to four times longer than the average sneaker. There is also a color choice of navy, olive, light or dark brown, $27.50.

Ricchard's is at 150 Nassau Street, and the store is open Monday through Saturday from 9:30 to 5:30.

Did you know... that your hair is being damaged from the INSIDE, OUT?

There's a way to determine the health and condition of your hair. That's through Hair Analysis. It's like giving your hair a physical check-up.

Samples of your hair are taken and tested on a sensitive instrument call a Gram Scale. This evaluates the tensile strength and elasticity of your hair. Then a photomicrograph is taken from which the internal structure of the hair is visible.

All of this information is examined by a trained hair analyst who diagnoses your hair problem and prescribes a corrective program.

If you suspect that you have "sick" hair, shouldn't you make plans to give it a checkup? Call for your Hair Analysis appointment today.

about your front lawn, usually after your attempts to fertilize or to dig up all the dandelions have failed.

However, regardless of the rationalizations, we all would like a lush, green, weed-free carpet. If you lack the time, inclination or green thumb to adequately care for your lawn, there is an alternative—Lawn King of Princeton.

Sandy Scheiber, who owns the Lawn King franchise for Princeton, views his lawn care as a total management service. Rather than re-sodding, Lawn King prefers to slowly work with what is already there—aerating, rolling, seeding, and weed-killing on a regular schedule until the lawn once again becomes healthy.

The service is preventive as well as curative. Even if a problem is not currently noticeable, the weeds, crabgrass, grubs, ching bugs and fungus are all treated at the proper time. The full service includes four visits a year with check-backs in-between.

Although the cost may seem high at first, Mr. Scheiber points out that it would cost approximately the same if you bought the fertilizer, seed, and weed-killers and then rented the power equipment to roll and aerate your lawn—and you would be doing all the work. Unfortunately, a beautiful lawn takes time and supplies. The full service is 3½ cents a square foot, or $350 for 10,000 square feet.

The annual program includes a spring, early summer, late summer and fall treatment, but you can begin at any point and carry over into next season. If you are interested in having Mr. Scheiber look at your lawn and give you an estimate, call Lawn King at 924-6375 for an appointment.

ART
In Princeton

WATER AND WATERCOLOR: These surf fishermen casting in the waters off Nantucket have been captured in watercolor by Princeton artist Dorothy Bissell. Her watercolors are now on view at Eye for Art.

EXHIBITS VARY WIDELY

At The Artisan. Batik is a process by which fabric is decorated and dyed. Areas are treated with wax and dye several times resulting in a multicolored patterned fabric. This technique was originally a primitive method for decorating fabric but has evolved to a sophisticated artists medium.

Sara Eyestone has added her own technical virtuosity to an already elaborate technique and created a large and exciting collection of batik work. The batik is complemented by an intricate line which heightens the rich and harmonious color effects Eyestone can produce, and makes the resulting batik-drawing an interesting and visually satisfying piece of art.

Whimsical, intensely toned people, toy-people and florals make up the major part of Eyestone's work. They are consistently well executed and her color sense and feeling for line make the florals rich and harmonious works.

The batiks are stretched on rigid frames and the effect is that of a painting. Pattern is as carefully regarded as color and textural effects are created by repeats, contrasts and the juxtaposition of forms. The overall effect is one of celebration of the subject with happy color and cheerful combinations.

At Valley Road School. The Princeton Regional Schools have instituted an artist in residence program. Throughout the year it has provided the art teachers with an interval during which they can pursue their own work.

This program has proved useful both as a creative stimulus to the talents of the teachers and provided an artistically dynamic environment for the individual student and classes that visit and often work with the artist. A further benefit to both the school and the community has been the art displays at the Valley Road School which represents the artistic product of the residency.

The current display at the media resource center at the Valley Road School represents a segment of the current work of Riverside School art teacher Gino Cicchini. The collection is a statement of this artist's continuing relationship with the dynamism of color and paint and their ability to provide visual pleasure.

The display is made exciting through the original presentation of the subject as well as through exciting combinations of color and texture. The results are always electric in their effect and provide sophisticated wit to accompany this visual harmony.

Cicchini has combined several different media in many of the works and intensifies the visual effects by unlikely combinations of materials and techniques. Subject matter is developed with the same sense of contrast by combining disparate themes to stimulate and entertain.

At the Eye for Art. Watercolorist Dorothy Bissel has created a happy marriage of medium and subject in her water color collection at the Eye For Art. Seascape, landscape and florals are all skillfully executed.

In each painting Ms. Bissel demonstrates that she can not only control this difficult medium but is able to use it as a personal tool through which she is able to express her feeling about her subject and evoke similar reaction in the viewer. Muted colors, controlled but fluid wash techniques and the feeling of light and translucence are all present. The glow and the freedom of brushwork that make good watercolor paintings is consistently evident.

Beach, boat and dune are all skillfully worked in large, broad wash and finished with fine, controlled linear techniques. Florals, too, provide the range of soft, clear color and visual contrast that only this medium is able to provide.

At The Loft. Drawings by Marsha Kleinman and paintings by Conrad Newman are featured in the current display at the Loft. Both artists are realists with literal interpretations of their subjects.

Ms. Kleinman has created a group of finely wrought drawings in line and tone. Her themes are mainly animals and florals which are creatively and carefully rendered. Although this work is essentially literal, there is a thoughtful placement of line and tone that creates an extra dimension of style.

Paintings by Conrad Newman include portraits, still life and landscape. The artist is faithful to his subjects in color and design. Brushwork is controlled and the paint is well handled.

At Squibb Galleries. A collection of contemporary sculpture from the Sculpture Center in New York City occupies the entire gallery space at Squibb International Headquarters. Brass, bronze, alabaster, fiberglass, marble and acrylic are polished, cast, carved, welded and sit in stately splendor contrasting with glass walls and the Princeton landscape.

The work of 17 artists presents a panorama of style and technique. The collection is notable for the technical virtuosity displayed. No matter the medium, the works are executed competently with a professional finish. Styles range wide, examining pure form and space, presenting literal subjects and working symbolic elements into profound combinations.

Many of the pieces, hnwever, give the viewer a sense of deja vu. Ordinary themes are often explored in an ordinary fashion and rely on materials and technical skill to carry them. There are however, enough exciting and original portrayals by several different artists to make the trip to this gallery a gratifying visual experience.

In response to public interest. Squibb Gallery's exhibition will be open to the public on Sunday, from 1 to 5.

Indian Miniature Paintings
Once India's emperors and maharajas or well-to-do merchants commissioned their artists for graphic records of important events, portraits of their families and legends to display in their private albums. As was tradition from the 14th to the 20th Century, these painstakingly detailed Indian miniatures painted with ground vegetable and mineral dyes and gold were exchanged as gifts and often sent, in the days before photography, to the family of a proposed bride or bridegroom. The gallery has assembled for your viewing a large group of these one-of-a-kind miniatures, most from the 18th to 20th Century.

ANNUAL MEETING SET

By Friends of Art Museum. A preview of the Princeton University Art Museum's new exhibit of Islamic art, and a reception in honor of Allen R. Rosenbaum, its new assistant director, will be held in connection with the annual meeting of The Friends of the Art Museum, Princeton University, on Monday.

The meeting, to which all members are invited, will open at 4:30 in 101 McCormick Hall on the University campus. New members of the Board will be elected, and election of new officers from the board will follow. Mrs. Wendall Davis is out-going president.

Peter Bunnell, Director of the Art Museum, will present his new assistant at a cocktail party and reception to be held after the meeting, in the Museum's Craig Gallery. Allen Rosenbaum, who joined the Museum staff on April 1, is a specialist in 15th and 16th century Italian art and architecture. A 1958 graduate in Fine Arts of Queens College of the City University of New York, he holds an M.A. from New York University's Institute of Fine Arts.

The exhibition of "Islamic Art from Princeton Collections," which members will view during the cocktail hour, is a collection of 208 art objects from Iran, Iraq, Egypt, Turkey and India. The exhibit grew out of the graduate seminar in Islamic art conducted by Prof. Richard Ettinghausen, visiting professor at Princeton from the N.Y.U. Institute of Fine Arts. Prof. Ettinghausen is a Princeton resident.

Objects from his own collection form the nucleus of the exhibit, supplemented by loans from other private collections in Princeton, and from The Art Museum and the Firestone Library. Included in the show, which spans several centuries of Islamic art, will be carpets and textiles, glass vessels, metal work and jewelry, ceramic tiles, manuscript illuminations, book bindings, pottery and many other examples of the arts and crafts of the Middle East. An illustrated checklist has been prepared for the exhibit, which continues at the Museum through June 30.

WATERCOLORS ON VIEW

At Present Day Club. An exhibition by members of the Garden State Watercolor Society is the final show until fall at The Present Day Club, 72 Stockton Street. The exhibit will continue through the second week in June and may be seen Monday-Friday from 9 until noon.

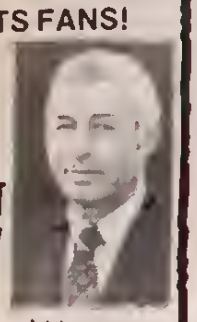
SPORTS FANS! I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW



Brought to you By John Bernard

Here's a golf oddity...Pro golfer Johnny Miller did so well during the first 2 months this year, that his caddy, Andy Martinez (who gets a share of Miller's winnings) made more money than Miller himself did as a player his whole first year on the tour!...In January and February this year, Miller won $109,000 and his caddy earned about $11,000...In his first year on the tour, Miller made about $8,000, so Martinez did better in caddying two months this year than Miller did playing golf for 12 months just a few years ago.

There's an interesting story why a total of 10 pins are used in bowling today instead of some other number...Originally, the game had only 9 pins, but several states outlawed what was called "bowling at 9-pins" because of betting connected with the game at that time...So, to get around the law, bowlers added a 10th pin, changed the name of the game from "bowling at 9-pins" to "bowling at 10-pins" and were legally allowed to bowl...And that's why bowling has 10 pins today.

Even the greatest players have bad days, but it's hard to believe the kind of day Stan Musial once had...Although he was one of baseball's great hitters, Musial once hit into a triple play, two double plays, and struck out twice--all in the same game!

I bet you didn't know that you can buy medical insurance for your parents regardless of age and insurability–and the cost is reasonable.

Last-Ditch Win Gives Tigers Slim Chance Of Playoff with Harvard for League Title

In the final three games of its regular schedule in the Eastern Baseball League, Princeton ran afoul of just about everything, including Murphy's Law, which holds that if anything can possibly go wrong, it will.

The Tigers left here Thursday for a Friday game with Dartmouth at Hanover, and were rained out. They went to Cambridge, played two with Harvard, and lost both. Returning to Hanover for a Sunday game with Dartmouth, they were rained out again. Old Man Murphy and his Law were riding high.

The skies finally cleared and the field dried sufficiently for action on Monday. If the Tigers were to fold completely, that would have been the spot, hut instead they produced their one solid performance of the long journey as two sophomore pitchers combined to hold the Green to three hits as the foundation for a 3-1 Princeton victory.

Now, the outcome of the race depends on a postponed Harvard-Penn doubleheader to be played Thursday at Philadelphia. If the Quakers, who were involved in a tie with Brown last month, thus complicating the standings, can manage at least a split, they will finish 10-3-1, and become league champions. If Harvard takes both games, the Crimson and the Tigers will tie at 10-4, with Penn third. In that event, a Harvard-Princeton playoff has tentatively been scheduled for Yale Field at New Haven Sunday.

Historical note: last time the Tigers played Harvard at New Haven—because of an earlier rain-out—they blanked the Crimson, 4-0, on a one-hitter by Dick Emery. It was 1953—the last year Princeton won the league title.

Heavy Schedule. While the twin bill at Philadelphia is in progress Thursday, Princeton will be assisting New York University in making history. The game between the two teams at 3:30 on Clarke Field will be the last the Violets will play in the sport, following last week's announcement that it is being abandoned for reasons of economy. Not surprisingly, they have not won in 13 starts this spring.

Friday will find the Tigers in action again, this time against far stronger opposition. Seton Hall, the 1974 Metropolitan Conference champion, will be here seeking to nail down a berth in the NCAA District II playoffs. The contest was billed for Monday but postponed when Princeton stayed in Hanover.

The final games of the regular season are set for Saturday—a twin bill against St. John's. The Redmen began the week with a fine 23-4 record and are a shoo-in for a playoff berth.

Through the years, good St. John's teams have had their problems at Princeton, but if the Tigers get a shot at Harvard again, Coach Eddie Donovan will hold out at least two of his top-line pitchers. It's a ticklish situation for the Tigers' should they win only one of four from Thursday through Saturday, and then trim Harvard in a possible playoff, they would be Eastern League champions with an overall mark no better than 20-13. Some of the independents in the district are better than that, leaving open the question of whether a league championship is in itself adequate qualification for a playoff berth.

Dartmouth Error Helps. Two unearned runs in the first inning stood up all the way for the Princeton victory at Hanover. With John Cullinane on first and two out, the Dartmouth left fielder dropped Ken Beytin's long fly for a three-base error, allowing Cullinane to score. Beytin then rode home on Kevin Kaufman's single.

A third run in the fifth crossed when Jon Blodgett singled, advanced on a sacrifice and scored on Beytin's single. Mike French worked the first seven and a third innings, Mark Softy closed out the contest and the losers could muster but three hits off their combined talents

At Cambridge, Princeton did virtually nothing right. Despite the fact that five of the top seven hitters in the standings wear Orange and Black, the Tigers were limited to eight hits and three runs in the 14 innings of the doubleheader, losing the second game to a pitcher who thereby won his first of the season.

To make matters worse, they would have gained an invaluable split if their support of sophomore Mark Softy had been adequate in the second game. He was a 4-2 loser, but three of the runs charged against him were unearned.

Defensive difficulties plagued the Tigers all afternoon. Catcher Kevin Plunkett was able to nail only one of seven runners stealing, handicapped to some extent by the fact that Scott McHenry, working the first game, throws a great many slow curves and changeups.

One of the thefts came as the scoring end of a double steal. Another Harvard run crossed the plate when rightfielder Jon Blodgett called second baseman John Cullinane off a high fly and then let it drop in front of him. Small wonder Coach Eddie Donovan summed up the day's proceedings with the comment, "We just couldn't handle the pressure."

Offsetting Homers. Plunkett's home run in the fifth inning of the first game was the lone Princeton score. It matched a solo blow by Harvard's Don Driscoll in the fourth, but Harvard broke the tie with three runs in the last of the sixth. All were earned, as McHenry was pounded for a single and two doubles sandwiched around a base on balls.

Princeton took a 2-1 lead in the top of the sixth of the second game, leaving Softy only six outs away from victory. He never made it, because third baseman Ed. Kuchar let a grounder go through his legs and three of the solen bases, largely bolstered by a ringing double, kept the Crimson circling the bases.

In mid-week action, the Tigers missed one opportunity after another to stow away a sloppily-played contest with Temple and finally lost, 8-5, when the Owls pushed over their final three runs in the 10th. The three hour and 45 minute contest produced much of what makes college baseball boring to many a sports fan as seven pitchers fiddled around on the mound before yielding a total of 24 bases on balls. Nine were charged to Princeton's Seve Crandall.

The Tigers held an early lead of 3-1 and another of 5-4 as late as the seventh. Any sort of concentrated offense in that round would have put the game away, but after two runs had crossed and the bases were still loaded with none out, the side was retired on a strike out and a double play.

LACROSSE BELOW .500

But Is 3-3 in Ivy League. Defeats last week by Rutgers and Cornell completed the season for the Princeton lacrosse team, the Tigers winning only six of 14 games as they tacked another year on the long string which has failed to see them win at at least half their games. The last year they were on the sunny side of .500 was 1963.

The high-scoring (15-12) contest with Rutgers at New Brunswich saw Princeton in front, 8-6, on the strength of a five-goal surge in the third quarter, after it had trailed at the half, 5 to 3. But defensive difficulties, a Tiger problem all spring, kept plaguing the Orange and Black, particularly in the form of the Scarlet's Mike Rinck, who scored five goals. Billy Chaires bagged three for the losers, who trailed by only 13-12 with four minutes left but then yielded two more tallies.

Chaires gave the Tigers a 1-0 lead over Cornell on Finney Field Saturday but it was 4-1 for the Red after 15 minutes, 6-1 at the half and then the deluge in the third quarter. The final was 17-4, Princeton again finishing fourth in the league standings but bettering its overall mark from 2-4 last spring to 3-3.

In going 6-0 and replacing Brown as the Ivy king, Cornell also replaced Princeton as the college with the best overall mark since Ivy play began in 1956. The Red is now 73-32-1, to 71-33-2 for the Tigers.

Princeton's freshmen will provide additional strength for the varsity next year, having compiled a 9-1 mark this spring. In two seasons, classes of '76 and '77 have won 18 and lost 3.

CREWS OUTCLASSED

Lightweights Finish Last. The rocket that shot skyward a year ago when Princeton's 150-lb. crew won the Eastern sprint title and then went on to a string of 16 consecutive triumphs, including its victories in international competition at Henley, England, finished its arc Saturday in the waters of Lake Quinsigammond at Worcester, Mass.

After qualifying easily for the finals, the Tiger lightweights banked everything on a fast start in the championship race as the best chance of defeating Harvard, which had taken their measure by half a length here a week earlier. They were leading by a length at 500 meters, after leaving the stake boats at 42 strokes to the minute, but the Crimson had caught them with the race half over and rowed steadily away thereafter.

So did Penn, Rutgers and Navy, all victims of the Tigers this spring, as well as Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Princeton thus trailing the entire field. It was clocked in 6:38, ten seconds and two and a half lengths off the winning pace.

Also last, but in the consolation finals, were the varsity heavyweights. That championship was also won by Harvard, which captured five of the day's six titles and both cups awarded on a point basis for the day's best performances.

FLIPPIN SETS RECORD

In County Meet. Princeton High School won only one event in the second annual Mercer County Conference Track and Field Meet held Saturday at Ewing but it did so with flare: PHS sophomore Royce Flippin Jr. set a meet record in the two-mile with a clocking of 9:36.7

It was the fastest time ever by a sophomore in the two-mile in the Mercer County area, and more than 12 seconds under Flippin's previous best of 9:47.8 set during the winter season. His time broke the record of 9:43 recorded last year by Brian Gallagher of Hopewell Valley High School. The all time two-mile standard for the county is 9:35 set by Hopewell Valley's John Berchtold in 1970.

"He had a fantastic day," agreed PHS coach Marc Anderson. "If I had a dozen of him I'd have a team and a half." Flippin, son of the Princeton University athletic director, defeated second-place Andy Hollaway of Trenton by 3.9 seconds and thus atoned for a loss to Hollaway a week ago in a dual meet.

"He and Pete (Pete Nichols of PHS who finished third with 9:46.6) knew exactly what they had to do," commented Anderson. "Holloway has an excellent kick and I told them, as we discussed it before the race, that they had to go and run him right into the ground and take his kick away. When Holloway made his move, Royce kept right with him and at the end," said Anderson, "it was Royce who pulled away."

Freddie Wilson lost his duel to Hamilton's Mickey Chianese in the 440. Chianese set a meet record of 49.9, besting Wilson's 50.2. Anderson reported that PHS had dual meets on Tuesday and Thursday before the meet and that Wilson and a lot of his performers were "running tired." He predicted that Wilson, who also finished fifth in the 220 with 23.1—his best time—will break the 50 second barrier before the season is over and "will still end up with the best time around in the 440."

Mark McLean placed second in the high jump with a 6-0 effort, one inch behind Frank White of Ewing. It was his best mark in the event, said Anderson, who reported that McLean never missed until he fouled out at the 6-1 level. McLean also captured a fifth in the pole vault (11-6).

Andy Bolster captured third place in the 330 yard intermediate hurdles. Bolster, who got a late start in track because of his swimming committments, is really coming on, said Anderson. He added that the senior ran a 51.8 lap in a mile relay against Hopewell Valley on Thursday.

PHS lost that dual meet to HV, 69½ to 61½, proving, observed Anderson, "That you can't win a meet with just runners." The Little Tigers needed to score only 11 points in the final three events—high jump, javelin and long jump—but couldn't do it.

Wilson won the 220 and 440, Bolster the 330 IM, Steve Roderick the 880 (2:05) Anderson and Flippin both were timed in 4:45 to place first and second in the mile and John Woodside, Nichols and Morgan Snyder led PHS to a sweep of the two mile.

But aside from the shot, where sophomore Tom Bart finished first with a toss of 42-10, the Bulldogs dominated the field events. They swept the discus "and that did us in right there," said Anderson.

Earlier, PHS defeated New Brunswick, 78-52.

Roderick won the 880, Wilson the 440 and he placed second in the 100 and 220; McLean won the pole vault and Fred Berkelhammer (6-0) led a sweep of the high jump. McLean was second, Wilson third. Dave Gilbert and Bart finished second in the javelin and shot.

HUN KEEPS WINNING

As Season Nears End. The weatherman has given the Hun baseball team more trouble than anyone else this season, and as a consequence Hun coach Bill McQuade reports, "It's getting hectic now. I don't know where we're going to find time to play all our games."

Normally, Hun would end its regular season next week, playing Germantown Friends on Friday and Blair Academy on Wednesday. Both contests are away. But the Red and Black must also fit in a number of rainouts and compounding the scheduling squeeze, McQuade said, is the annual prep school state tournament.

Hun was scheduled to oppose Princeton Day School this Wednesday at 3 at the Hun diamond.

Friday's game with Pingry was rained out but Hun managed to get in the George School game Saturday when the contest was transferred from Hun's rain-soaked diamond to the George School field. Hun won, 5-1.

Jon Vidabeck pitched the entire game for Hun, giving up four hits and striking out seven. Hun spread its seven hits out evenly. Despite the win, McQuade remarked: "It wasn't a great day for us."

Aside from the first inning when Hun scored one run on three straight hits, it was a sloppy game commented McQuade. However, Hun was able to capitalize on George School errors to nail down the win.

Earlier in the week, Hun won an important game by defeating Pennington School, 3-1. The win tied Hun with Pennington for the lead in the northern division of the Penn Jersey League. Both teams have lost one.

The big man for Hun was pitcher Dave Clark who limited the home team Red Raiders to four hits.

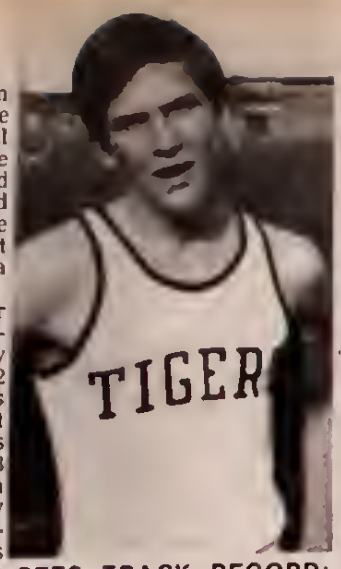
Hun managed only five hits as Clark singled home one run and Mark Schwartz doubled home another in the sixth when Hun scored twice. Jeff Petrone also rapped a double for Hun.

The loss was Pennington's second in eight games and Hun's seventh win in nine starts. "It was a good one to win," said McQuade. Five of Hun's last six games are league contests--the outcome of which will determine whether Hun will repeat as champion of its division.

FINAL 3 GAMES DUE

For PHS Lacrosse. Following Saturday's 11-1 loss to Hanover Park, Princeton High School lacrosse coach Bill Cirullo told his players they have to put it together and win their last three games if they hope to earn a berth in state tournament play. "I think they'll meet that challenge," he said.

PHS backed itself against the wall when it lost to Hanover Park and Peddie, 7-6, lowering its record to 5-5. If PHS wins its last three, Cirullo reported that he feels the resultant 8-5 record will earn PHS a shot at tournament play.



SETS TRACK RECORD: Royce Flippin ran the fastest two-mile ever by a sophomore in Mercer County Saturday to set a record in the event in the annual Mercer County Conference Meet. His time: 9:36.7.

Those last three are rival Princeton Day School Friday at 3:30, Newton at the same time Monday--both on the John Witherspoon school field--and Livingston. The latter was scheduled for this Wednesday afternoon in Livingston.

The loss to Hanover Park was not unexpected because the upstate club is one of the top-ranked teams in the state. "I think they just wanted it a lot more than we did," said Cirullo, who added that he didn't think his team was prepared to play. Mark Campbell's final period goal was the only point scored by the Little Tigers.

Cirullo described the loss to Peddie as unfortunate. "We played well in spurts," he said, "but not consistently."

Down by two goals on three occasions, PHS each time fought back to within one. When Peddie stretched its lead to 7-4, PHS made up its mind to play lacrosse, Cirullo stated. The Little Tigers controlled the tempo of the game, scored two goals, and almost earned a tie when Mace Mohrman's shot on goal with six seconds left just missed.

Rich Warfield, who has started to come on strong for PHS, had two goals, as did Ron Compbell. Both looked very good and deserve a lot of credit, said Cirullo. Mark Solomon and Mohrman also scored for PHS.

Cirullo, in his first year as coach and without any assistants, had done a fine job in turning the sport around at PHS. "If we win the last three, we'll be 8-5," he mused. "I'd really enjoy that." Then he added, "I think the kids would, too."

PHS GIRLS SEEDED 2D

In State Tennis Tournament. The Princeton High School girls tennis team, undefeated in regular season play with an 11-0 mark, has been seeded number two in the state tournament which was scheduled to start this Wednesday at PHS. Manasquan was seeded number one.

Princeton's first-round opponent is East Brunswick which it defeated, 5-0, earlier in the season. The second round of play will be held Friday, also at the PHS courts

Members of coach Carol Wimberg's Little Tiger varsity squad are Andre Murphy, the number one singles player; Vera Jesser, number two, and Ann Magee, number three.

The number one doubles team is Patti Rose and Michele Benjamin, while the number two pairing consists of Leslie Krause and Sue Hurley. Murphy is the only senior among them; Jesser and Krause are freshman. Most, observed Wimberg, who is in her first year as coach, are products of the Princeton Community Tennis Program.

In the Mercer County Invitational Tournament held during the weekend, Benjamin and Rose won the doubles championship, defeating PHS teammates Susan Claghorn and Gail Strazza in three sets. Miss Jesser finished second in the singles competition; she lost the final round to Natalie Usiskin, a Princeton resident who attends the Hun School.

SWIMMING OFFERED

For Summer Season. The Princeton Aquatic Association, a year-round competitive swim program for all levels of swimmers, will open its summer work-out season in Dillon Pool, at Princeton University, on Monday at 5. The program is open to any interested swimmer without regard to place of residence. In the past, the members have ranged from age 7 through college, with appropriate competition for each level of proficiency.

"We are hoping to attract serious swimmers from the numerous swim clubs in the area," said Bill Farley, head coach. "Most summer clubs are not able to provide enough pool time for serious work-outs, but many swimmers enjoy the club competition. By working out with the PAA, an AAU club, they will be able to have high-level work-outs and still be eligible to swim in inter-club competition, as well as AAU meets."

Senior swimmers will train for major meets: New Jersey senior championships, Eastern championships, and National AAU championships. Age-group swimmers will concentrate on the N.J. Olympic meets and age-group championships, as well as their inter-club meets. Ten-and-under swimmers will work chiefly on stroke development, although they too will compete in age-group meets and club meets.

Coaches for the summer program will be Farley, who is also head coach of the Princeton University championship team, and Cathy Corcione, who had a berth on the 1968 Olympic team. Last year, she won two silver medals at the World University Games in Moscow,

HOPEWELL MAN VICTOR

In Paul Bunyan Games. Henry Muetener of Hopewell won $84 and the right to wear a hat enscribed "Mr. Paul Bunyan of Stony Brook" after he won the Paul Bunyan Games held last week to mark the opening of the new 84 Lumber Company distribution center on Route 31, Pennington. Ed Fox of Bradley Beach was runner-up.

Muetener and Fox each won two of seven events in the finals held on Saturday. Muetener won the log rolling when he rolled a log 40 feet in 5.3 seconds and the tobacco putting for distance—21 feet, eight inches.

Fox won the nail driving after he drove a 30 penny nail into a log in the shortest time of 1.8 seconds, and the tobacco putting for accuracy, where he was 4-for-4. Barry Davison of Hopewell won the golf hole-in-one (14'-10"), Jim Williams of Trenton the fish casting (2-for-3) and Butch Henderson of Pennington the cross-cut sawing contest. His winning time was 8.6 seconds. To be eligible for the finals, contestants had to qualify in at least four events.

Door prize winners included Gail Kuykendall of Lambertville (TV set), Fern Kunkle of Sergeantsville (saw), Michael Hvasta Jr. of Trenton (blender) and George Petrilla of Hopewell (knife).

Jim Abbott, manager of the new 84 Lumber facility, reported that there was a fine turnout for the Paul Bunyan contests which were conducted Thursday through Saturday.

FIVE RECORDS BROKEN

In Jr. Olympic Meet. More than 600 Princeton youngsters battled winds and chilly weather Saturday to run jump and throw in the 4th annual Junior Olympic Track event held at the Princeton High School field.

All gold medal winners are eligible for the sectional championships which will be held June 8 at the PHS athletic field.

Perhaps the most remarkable performance Saturday was accomplished by Lynnea Swenson of Bertrand Drive. She not only won gold medals in the three events she entered, but she also managed to set two new Princeton records: 50-yard dash—6.6 sec., and long jump—14 feet. Her other victory came in the 100-yard dash.

Judy Grisham of Birch Avenue broke the junior high jump record with a mark of 4 feet, 5 inches. Mary Dwyer threw the baseball for a record 165', 6" in the girls junior baseball throw.

Greg Thomas of 158 John Street won the dashes for the Bantam Boys and set a new mark for the 199-yard dash with a time of 13.8. Kenny McKellar set a new mark for the standing long jump with a jump of 6', 3".

Although Chris Price did not break any records, he completely dominated the jumps in the older age groups for the boys. Chris won the standing long jump, the running long jump and the high jump. Other double medal winners were Mike Nosal of Morgan Place (100 and 220-yard dash), Karen Finney of Magie Apts., Peter Sharpless, Josh Miller, Susie Haynes and Tracy Kuhn of Braeburn Drive.

SAILING ENDS EARLY

As Wind Takes Charge. Carnegie Sailing Club's races were terminated early Sunday afternoon in deference to squally, shifty winds which raised white-caps and sent several skippers swimming. The Laser fleet sailed two races and the Sunfish one before the wind rose so much that more was impractical.

Top three places for the day went to Tad LaFountain, Ed Metcalf and Warren Johnson in the Laser fleet. Walt Gibson won for the day in the Sunfish, with Dick Jesser second and Jack Kunz third.

The Club sponsored novice racing on Saturday, an opportunity for family and friends who do not normally skipper boats to come out and try their hands at racing. Four races were sailed, with overall victory going to David Hill. Jan Gibson was second, Mike Kunes third and Richard Jesser fourth. Another day of novice racing will take place Saturday, June 1.

forming a women's tennis league that will play at the Community Park Courts, and be organized according to the level of ability.

Those interested must fill out a registration form at the recreation office, Room 211, Valley Road School, between 9 and 5. Players will be taken on a first-come basis.

Matches will be scheduled on an individual basis by the teams playing; doubles will compete against other teams twice a week. It is suggested that prospective players contact a player of equal talent for their permanent partner. Substitutes will not be permitted.

Daily admission permits will be accepted at time of play and it is not necessary to have a season permit to be eligible. Non-resident players who do not have a season ticket should pair with a resident or season-ticket holder.

Additional information is available at the recreation office, 921-9480.

PDS 9 SPLIT PAIR

Face Hun, Perkiomen. After winning one game the hard way, and then losing one the hard way, Princeton Day School's baseball team hopes for—but probably doesn't expect—some easy games in the next week.

The Panthers saw one lead wiped out and another one almost erased as they outlasted the George School last week, 8-7. On Monday, facing Hun's undefeated Dave Clark, PDS was robbed of two scoring opportunities by Hun shortstop Tony Trani. The final score was 4-0, as Clark struck out six and allowed only four base hits.

This Wednesday the Panthers were scheduled to visit Hun, with Glenn Russo pitching for PDS. On Friday the team travels to the Perkiomen School. As usual, Coach Tom DeVito will be holding his breath in hope that his team will not give up a big inning at an inopportune time.

The timing turned out all right against George. PDS jumped off to a 4-1 lead in the first inning. Russo drove in a run with a single and then Nick Brady, the catcher, hit a bases loaded triple.

Then, in the third inning, and almost as the script would call for it, two PDS errors opened the doors for George. Terry Ward, who struck out 11, gave up a home run to open the inning. Then an error, single, error, and sacrifice fly scored two more runs.

Lead Almost Lost. An RBI single by Brady, sacrifice flies by Bill Baggitt and Frank Konstantynowicz, and an RBI single by Konstantynowicz brought the PDS margin back to four by the seventh and final inning.

Then came the big inning. A walk, single, error, fielder's choice, stolen base and single made the score 8-7 with two outs. DeVito brought in Russo to get the final out for Ward.

The big inning against Hun came in the fifth. Trailing only 1-0 against Clark, "the best pitcher we'll see all year," according to DeVito, PDS missed a double play opportunity when Gary Salup bobbled the exchange at second base. Ron Cathel drove in one run and then Clark doubled to right to drive in two more.

Trani put PDS down in the fifth when, with Brady on third and two outs, he speared a grounder by Baggitt over the middle and threw on one hop to first baseman Jay Petrone. In the sixth, PDS had men on second and third with two outs, Russo hit a sharp grounder over second base, and again Trani cut it off and threw the runner out.

FIVE SPORTS FEATURED

At PDS Summer Camps. The Princeton Day Sports Camp will again operate this summer, running for five weeks and featuring six sports.

The dates are: lacrosse, June 24-28; tennis, June 24-28; football, July 1-5; soccer, July 8-12; and two basketball weeks July 15-19 and 22-28.

Each camp will feature a junior program (ages 10-13) and a senior program (ages 14-17). Girls camps will exist during tennis and the first week of basketball.

The philosophy of the camp is to offer each boy and girl individual instruction from the finest high-school and college coaches available to enable campers to develop and improve individual skills. Daily opportunities are afforded to incorporate these individual skills into competeitive team play.

The lacrosse camp will feature Glenn Thiel (University of Virginia), Jack Emmer (Washington & Lee University) and Al Pisano (Army) as the daily guest clinicians.

The resident coaching staff will be Chuck Simpson (Princeton Day), Dietrich Von Schwerdtner (Peddie), Steve Jacobson (Hunterdon Central) and Bill Cirillo (Princeton High). The campers are furnished with shoulder pads and helmets and must provide gloves and sticks.

The football camp (July 1-5) will feature "Tubby" Raymond (Delaware), Wayne Hardin (Temple) and Frank Burns (Rutgers) as the guest clinicians. The resident coaching staff will consist of John Boneparth (Princeton Day), Jim Beachell (Princeton High) Rex Walker (West Windsor) and Dave McIntire (Hightstown). Specialty work by position will be the stress of the senior program while the juniors will be exposed to the fundamentals of all positions.

Bob Sedden (Pennsylvania), Cliff Stevenson (Brown), and Al Miller (Phila. Atoms) will highlight the soccer week--July 8-12 as guest clinicians. Tom Devito (PDS), Mel Jones and Lamont Fletcher (PHS), and Charlie Webb (Montgomery) will comprise the resident coaching staff for the soccer camp.

The guest clinicians for the basketball weeks will be Chuck Daly (Pennsylvania), Lou Carnesecca (St. John's), Rollie Massimino (Villanova), Paul Westhead (La Salle), Jack McKinney (St. Joseph's) and Jim Lynam (American University). Resident coaches will be Alan Taback (PDS), Marv Trottman (PHS), Alan Balcomb (South Brunswick) and Doug Ruhlman (Montgomery).

Each camp day will consist of two clinics, specialty work with a high-school coach, a swim period and game competition. Lunch is provided daily by the camp, and each camper receives a game ball, camp shirt and clinic notes. The response for this coming summer has been excellent. The tennis camp is already closed to applicants. However, there are spots remaining for each of the other camp programs. For further information and free brochure call the Princeton Day School at 924-6700.

EXPERIENCED STAFF SET

For Summer Tennis Program. An experienced teaching staff has Eve Kraft and John Conroy, co-directors of the Princeton Community Tennis Program, looking forward to a successful summer tennis season.

Among the new teachers will be Julie Kirkham, former nationally-ranked player and no. 1 on the Princeton University women's tennis team, and Maureen Curran, current doubles winner with Louise Gengler of the Middle States Women's intercollegiate tournament and top member of the women's team at Princeton.

From the university men's team are Sandy McLanahan and Jeff Oakes, both of whom have worked previously with the program. Also rejoining the staff this year will be Ted Fritsch, former no. 1 player and captain at Denison University. Bill Foreman will be instructing the advanced tournament group. Former no. 1 player and captain at Rutgers University, he is presently the professional at the Princeton Indoor Tennis Center and a ranked tournament player.

Other teachers will be Vickie Flournoy, junior at Smith College, Mark Laaser, graduate student at the Theological Seminary and college player; and Randy Gulick, former ranked MSLTA player and now on the team at Rollins College.

Permanent instructors on the staff are Joe Diefenbach, physical education teacher and coach of the Princeton Regional Schools; John Zorzi, math teacher and athletic coach, also of the Regional Schools; and Karen Bull, adult instructor and coordinator of instructor-staff activities.

In addition, Roger Kirkpatrick, Fred Alexander, Richard Magee and Ward Sloane will join the summer staff. Their responsibilities will be primarily classes in West Windsor and Twin Rivers. More than 100 Leader Corps members will assist.

Classes for all levels of players and ages are offered, including third graders to senior citizens and from beginners to advanced tournament players.

To discuss this program, a meeting is being planned for parents of students who qualify. Information about the meeting may be obtained by calling the Tennis Office, 924-4343.

Football to Have Its Day

Princeton University football coach Bob Casciola has announced that the Tigers will hold their annual one-day spring practice session on Monday. Ivy League colleges are limited to one day of spring workouts according to League rules.

Casciola will start the day with indoor testing and drills before the players report to their respective coaches for meetings and technical work. A full two-hour workout will conclude the program. Close to 100 prospects for the 1974 season will be on hand.
